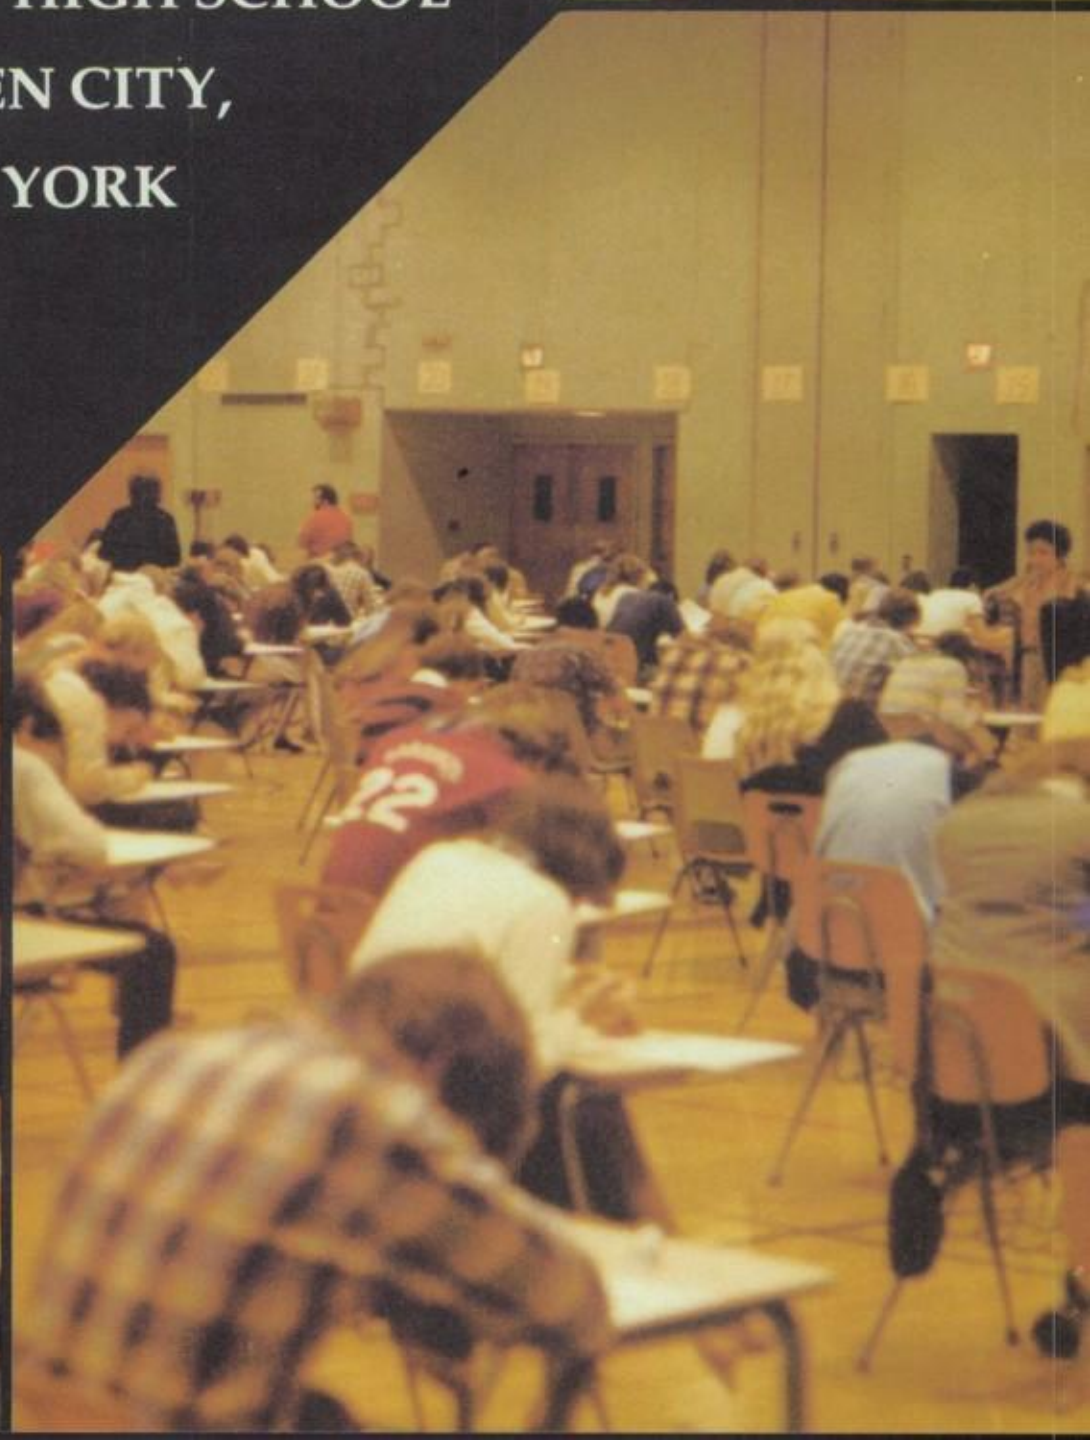
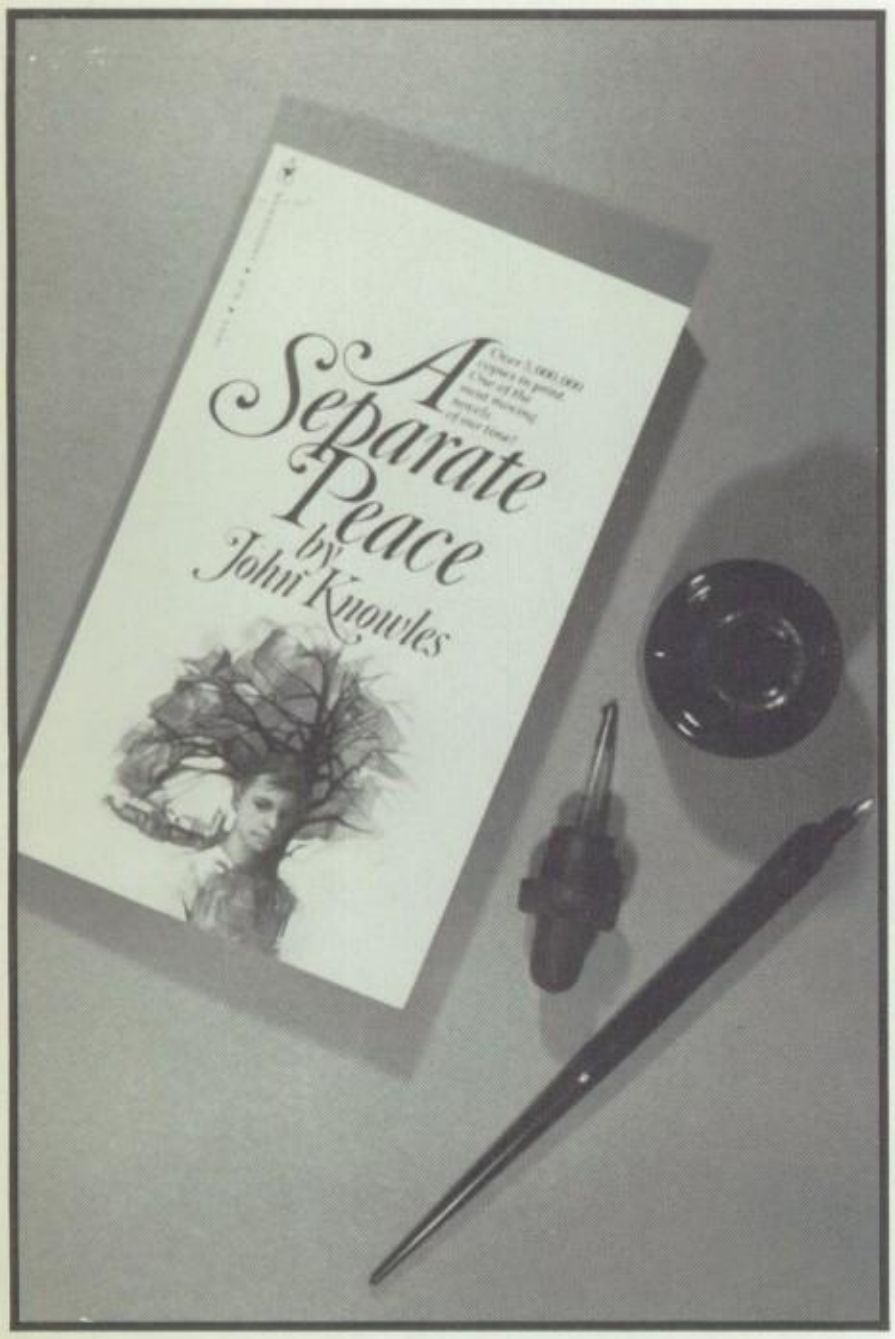
GARDEN CITY HIGH SCHOOL

GARDEN CITY,

NEW YORK





To the outsider, the class of 1982 might seem a vast, homogenous body; however, in actuality, the class is composed of individuals, each with unique interests, abilities, and beliefs, and each a separate piece of the whole, be it our grade, school, town, state, country, or universe.

Our lives are also composed of separate pieces. These high school years have shaped us into free-thinking, distinct individuals. Through the separate aspects of the school, the activities, sports, social events, friends, music, art, and academics, the veil of conformity which surrounded the earliest piece of our lives, our youth, has been shed. Our experiences and interactions during our years as students will greatly influence the latter stages of our lives, our adulthood.

Of course, being a separate piece of something animate shifts the significance from a group to individuals. Will we want to be remembered as one macrocosm, or as the separate entities that we really are? As the class of 1982, we have continually worked together as a whole, but simultaneously each of us has developed a unique identity.

Still, if we want to continue this analogy, we can allude to the title of John Knowles' novel. Like Gene and Phineas, we, too, are nearing the end of our high school careers and must, within ourselves, find a "separate peace" that will prepare us in our inevitable transformation into adulthood.

ART AT G.C.H.S.

A Monday night in May of 1980 marked the gala opening of "Garden City High School's New Look." Under the direction of art instructor Charles Morrongiello, over 100 students, many of whom are of the class of 1982, set out to paint the school building — leaving their marks of individuality on our school by way of original murals. In addition, a lobby art gallery was constructed and lockers were painted bright blues, yellows and reds. The courtyard, renamed "A Garden Plaza," was furnished with a pond, attractive shrubbery, park benches, and various creative pieces of sculpture to reflect the famous restful and lush gathering spots of Manhattan. In the words of Mr. Morrongiello, "This creative project was accomplished by the art students through their love, understanding, security, professionalism and friendship which made this project a true artistic expression."

When I wake up
It will be November
The leaves will be gone
The birds will have flown
I will live my life
On the inside Contemplating the house
I live in
The soul I dwell in
It is time to sleep
now
But this time
I will not awake
I will sleep inside
The innermost room
Of my soul
Remembering the house
I dwelt in

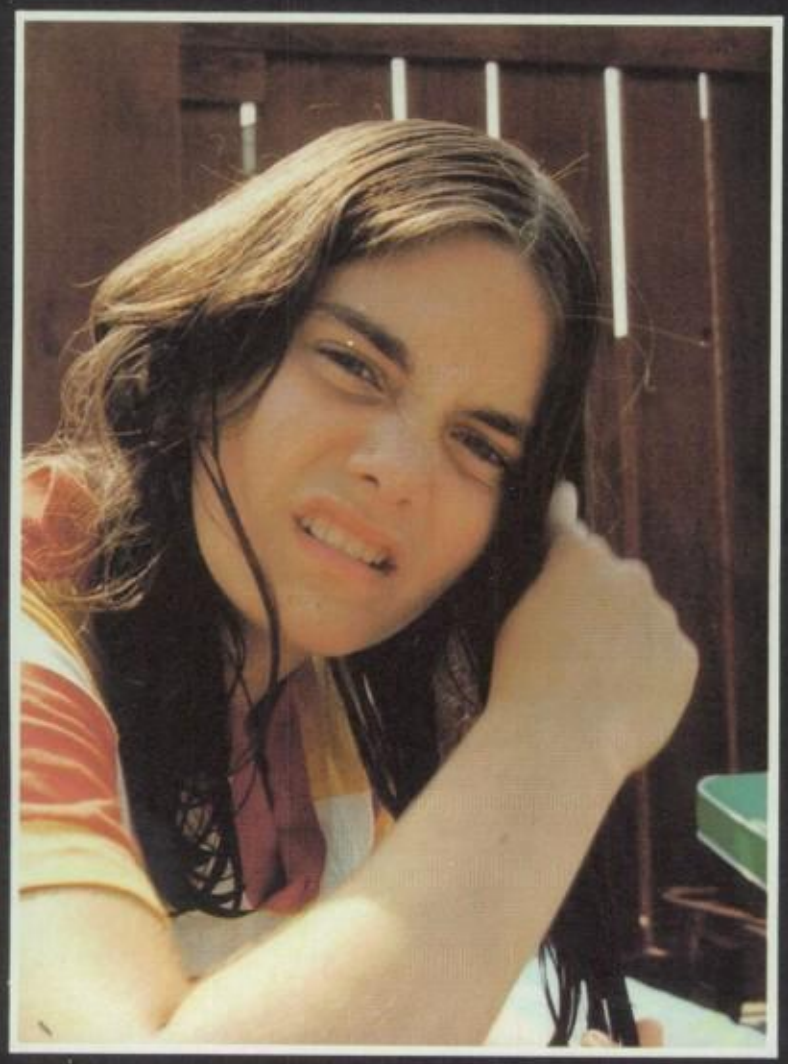
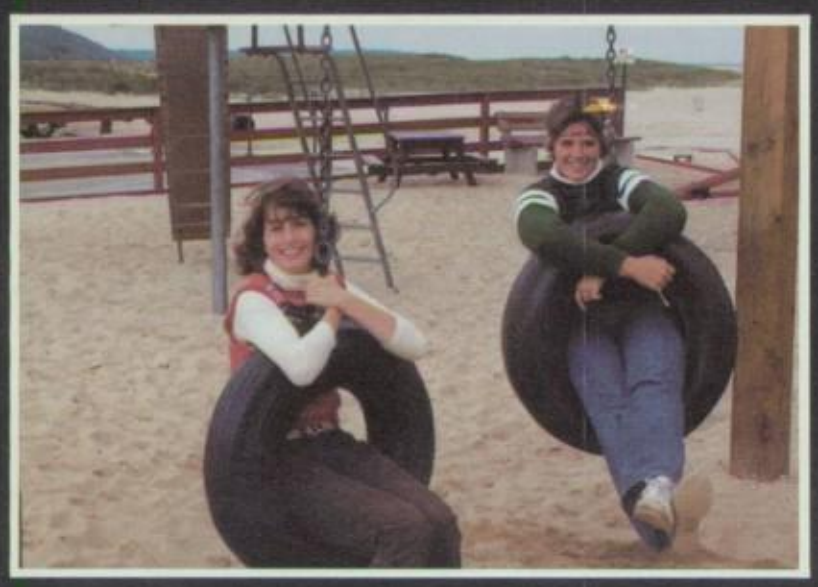
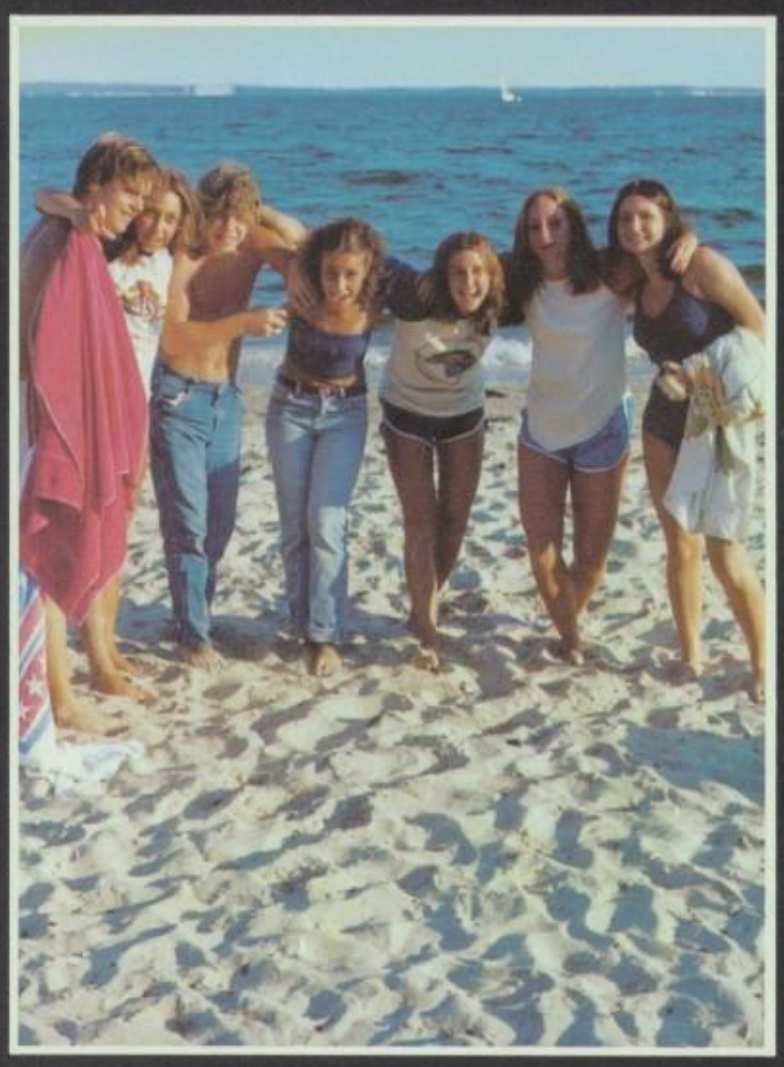
The Junior-Senior Prom of 1981, "The Best of Times," signified the beginning of our final year at the Garden City High School. Held at the Huntington Townhouse on a hot and rainy Friday evening, June 19, the prom was an occasion of sadness but at the same time one of laughter. We gathered together to say "farewell" and "good luck" to our friends who would be graduating on Sunday, and likewise, to celebrate our emergence as high school seniors. True, before and after the prom, couples functioned separately, going to cocktail parties, and later, enjoying intimate company. However, during the prom, members of our grade, along with upperclassmen and faculty, congregated on the dance floor, in the lobbies, and at the tables, for one of the few moments during our high school careers when we would function as a whole — the class of 1982.

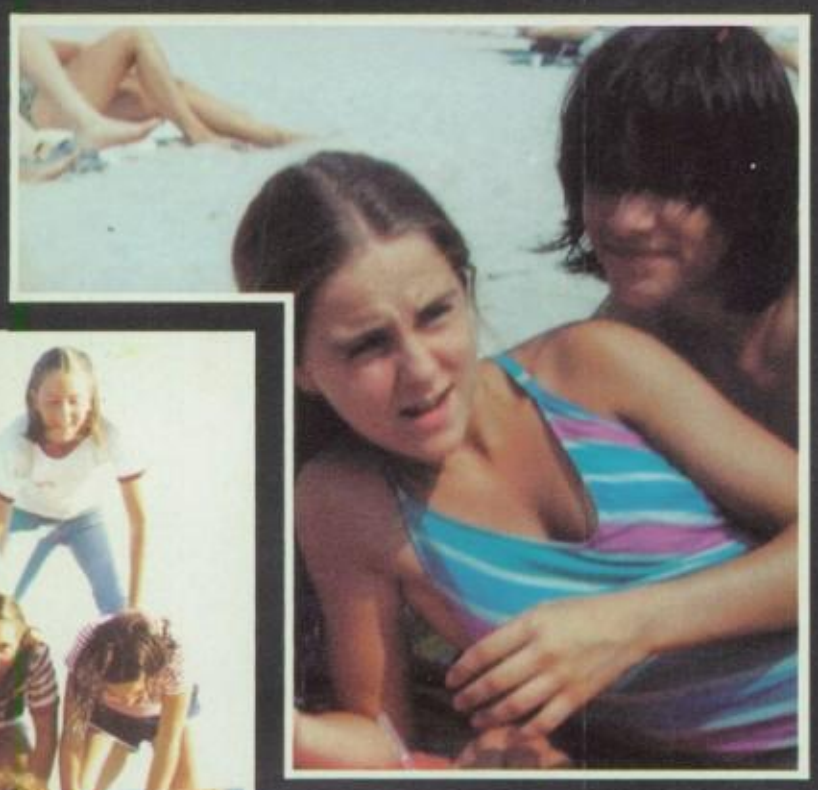


SUMMER

The summer of 1981 came and went quickly, as summers have a habit of doing. Garden City students spent the three months of freedom in a multitude of ways. While some engaged in the traditional seasonal activities such as beaching, partying, and relaxing, many students entertained themselves by traveling. Several spent the summer abroad, while others remained at home maintaning summer jobs. A few students even decided to broaden their academic horizons by attending various education-related institutions, ranging from science research at exclusive Roswell Park, to Regents Chemistry at the less selective "Camp Mineola." Despite the diversity of activities, it is agreed that the summer was a much-needed, and indispensable piece of last year.







HOMECOMING

SENIORS

HOMECOMING

The 1981 Garden City High School Homecoming was a memorable part of the past year, and was notably more festive than that of the previous year. Perfect weather, a relatively smooth parade, and a triumphant football victory marked the occasion.

Cars and floats, representing the various high school clubs and classes, participated in the parade, as well as a mysterious Trojan, who scared little children along the route. Despite the traditional fender benders, and assorted injuries, the procession advanced spiritedly.

The football team, cheered on toward victory by the highly enthusiastic crowd, shut out a strong Long Beach team 14-0. At halftime, Steve Alfieri and Claire Mullooly were awarded the titles of Homecoming King and Queen (respectively). Amidst the festivities, the Garden City High School football field was formally dedicated to Coach Warren King, commemorating his 41 years of service.

PARTIES

God invented weekends so that Seniors could vent their frustrations. Parties are the ultimate release for many, and whether they be intimate gatherings of a few close friends, band initiations, cast parties, Grecian functions, or an overflow of students carousing at an "open house," these events are the ones that most of us will reflect upon fondly later in life.

AROUND SCHOOL

No school is truly a school until it is brimming with students. The halls of Garden City High School are empty at night — if a book fell, there would be no noise; if a bell rang, there would be no sound. With the rise of the sun the school doors are opened, and the first signs of life start to trickle into the building. No one yells yet, out of respect for the aging walls; but soon the buses arrive and lockers are slammed shut, the cafeteria is packed, and homework is copied. Then the first bell rings.

"Off to homeroom!" "C'mon, let's go now!" These phrases shift the day into fourth gear, as halls burst into technicolor, smokers stomp out their cigarettes, and people run to homeroom, dodging bodies left and right. Then, with patriotism and precision, the Pledge of Allegiance is emotionally and dutifully recited. More bells follow as the day continues. The governing bodies go to work, teachers take to the blackboards, athletes flex their muscles, intellectuals seek refuge in the library, and everyone else drives off to Burger King. Then as quickly as the day began, it ends with yet another bell. Throngs of people empty out of the school with a holler which slowly subsides to a hush. The school walls sigh, and a mouse scurries across the floor.

"The masters were in their places . . ., suggesting by their worn expressions and careless postures that they had never been away at all."

Indisputably, the faculty has acted as one of our major influences throughout our stay at the Garden City High School, ranging from our guidance counselors, to our teachers and hall monitors. Our interactions, though not always harmonious, have gradually transformed us into free-thinking, responsible individuals. By offering knowledge, insight, demerits, and detentions, the faculty has shaped our high school years, and has indirectly shaped our futures.

Teachers have traditionally varied in styles and temperaments. Garden City has its share of young and old, wise and semi-senile, stern and lenient. Though their characters have varied as much as the subjects they have taught, each has offered something special and unique, and each has influenced us in some way.

Aside from teachers, the administrative branch of the faculty has affected each student, either positively or negatively. Administering both aid and censure, the main office staff has patterned our conduct — physical and mental. The guidance department has offered indispensable assistance in selecting programs of study and in the often confusing college selection process.

We owe many thanks to the faculty of the Garden City High School, whose influence will be felt throughout the rest of our lives.

GUIDANCE

Dr. Irvin Faust

Martin Dwyer

The goal for the Guidance Department is to help the student deal with the complexities of both high school life and post-secondary school plans. A staff of professional counselors with backgrounds in psychology, sociology, vocational guidance, and education is available to aid each student in the development of his or her individual talents or interests, and the channeling of these characteristics into the most suitable high school programs and college and/or vocational choices. The counselors also attempt to detect and resolve any problems the student may have in adjusting to his role in the school community. To help attain these goals, the department makes a special effort to meet with all students at several points during their stay in the high school.

In addition, the department, headed by Dr. I. Faust, provides students with information about college requirements and admission procedures, financial aid programs, scholarships, and career opportunities. It is responsible for the organization of Career Conference days and Mini-college Days, and for helping students arrange college visits.

Enter two Sentinels — [first,] Francisco, [who paces up and down at his post; then] Bernardo, . [who approaches him].

Ber. Who's there?
Fran. Nay, answer me. Stand and unfold yourself.
Ber. Long live the King!
Fran. Bernardo?
Ber. He.
Fran. You come most carefully upon your hour.
Ber. 'Tis now struck twelve. Get thee to bed, Francisco.
Fran. For this relief much thanks. 'Tis bitter cold,
And I am sick at heart.
Ber. Have you had quiet guard?
Fran. Not a mouse stirring.
Ber. Well, good night.
If you do meet Horatio and Marcellus,
The rivals of my watch, bid them make haste.

Enter Horatio and Marcellus.

Fran. I think I hear them. Stand, ho! Who is there?
Hor. Friends to this ground.

Fran. Give you good night.

Ber. Welcome, Hora Marcellus.
Mar. What, has this to-night?
Ber. I have seen nothi
Mar. Horatio says 'tis
And will not let belief tal.. ..
Touching this dreaded sight, twice seen of us.
Therefore I have entreated him along,
With us to watch the minutes of this night,
That, if again this apparition come,
He may approve our eyes and speak to it.
Hor. Tush, tush, 'twill not appear.
Ber. Sit down awhile,
And let us once again assail your ears,
That are so fortified against our story,
What we two nights have seen.

A little ere the mightiest Julius fell,
The graves stood tenantless, and the sheeted dead
Did squeak and gibber in the Roman streets;
As stars with trains of fire, and dews of blood,
Disasters in the sun; and the moist star

If thou hast any sound, or use of voice,

Speak of it! Stay, and speak! — Stop it, crew.

Hor. And then it started, like a guilty thing
Upon a fearful summons. I have heard
The cock, that is the trumpet to the morn,
Doth with his lofty and shrill-sounding throat
Awake the god of day; and at his warning,
Whether in sea or fire, in earth or air,
Th' extravagant and erring spirit hies
To his confine; and of the truth herein
This present object made probation.

Mar. It faded on the crowing of the cock.

Some say that ever, 'gainst that season comes
Wherein our Saviour's birth is celebrated,
The bird of dawning singeth all night long;
And then, they say, no spirit dare stir abroad,
The nights are wholesome, then no planets strike,
No fairy takes, nor witch hath power to charm,
So hallow'd and so gracious is the time.

Hor. So have I heard and do in part believe it.

But look, the morn, in russet mantle clad,
Walks o'er the dew of yon high eastward hill.
Break we our watch up; and by my advice
Let us impart what we have seen to-night
Unto young Hamlet; for, upon my life,
This spirit, dumb to us, will speak to him.
Do you consent we shall acquaint him with it,
As needful in our loves, fitting our duty?

Mar. Let's do't, I pray; and I this morning

Fulfilling the ideal that the students, not the faculty, give meaning to what is taught, the teachers of the English Department, headed by George Costigan, are constantly developing and introducing new teaching methods designed to increase the students' ability to form generalizations about literature, composition, and language. These methods also aid in the students' expression and communication of ideas. Required courses provide the students with basic skills of grammar, vocabulary, spelling, and literary analysis and criticism, while electives give students the freedom to explore specific areas of the language arts.

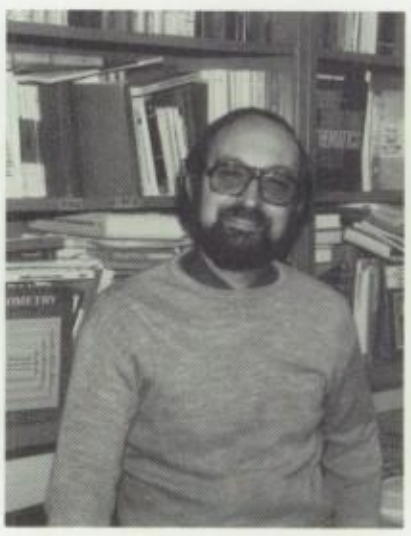
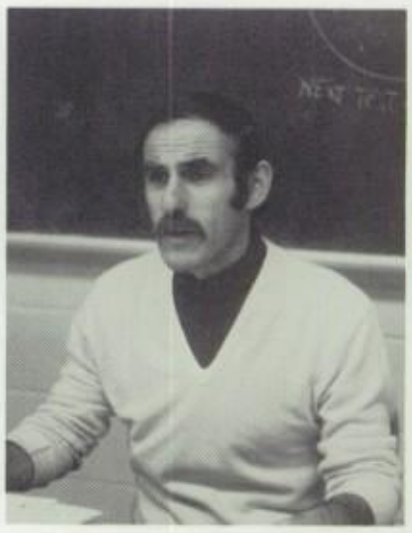
MATHEMATICS





The Mathematics Department has seventeen course offerings in four different tracks, (ranging from non-regents to Advanced Placement), enabling the staff to provide each student with a mathematics program which will meet his or her needs.

The Department believes that each student should achieve success, and in the wide range of courses available, all students should be able to find a reasonable challenge. Preparation for the Regents Competency Exams has received much emphasis of late. Great progress has been made toward the Department's goal of having every graduate of the high school achieve computer literacy. The Department Chairman is Clifford Hordlow.

The primary goal of the Science Department, under the chairmanship of Dr. Eugene Decker, is to prepare a citizen who will be scientifically literate, in a society which is becoming more and more technologically oriented. To meet these objectives, and to satisfy the needs of the students, the science program offers courses in biology, chemistry, physics, and earth science; each study program is presented at non-regents, regents, honors, and advanced placement levels. As students progress through the program, their interest and achievements allow them to move through the various levels of study.

The Language Department, under the supervision of Mark Levine, is designed to make students proficient in the four language skills — listening, speaking, reading, and writing — and to give the student an appreciation of other peoples and cultures. Courses are offered in Italian, French, German, Latin, and Spanish at Regents and honors levels, and Advanced Placement courses are offered in French, German, and Spanish. Conversational French and Spanish courses are also offered to juniors and seniors. In the last five years, enrollment in language courses has been steadily increasing, with 85% of the student body involved with the opportunities provided by the Language Department.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

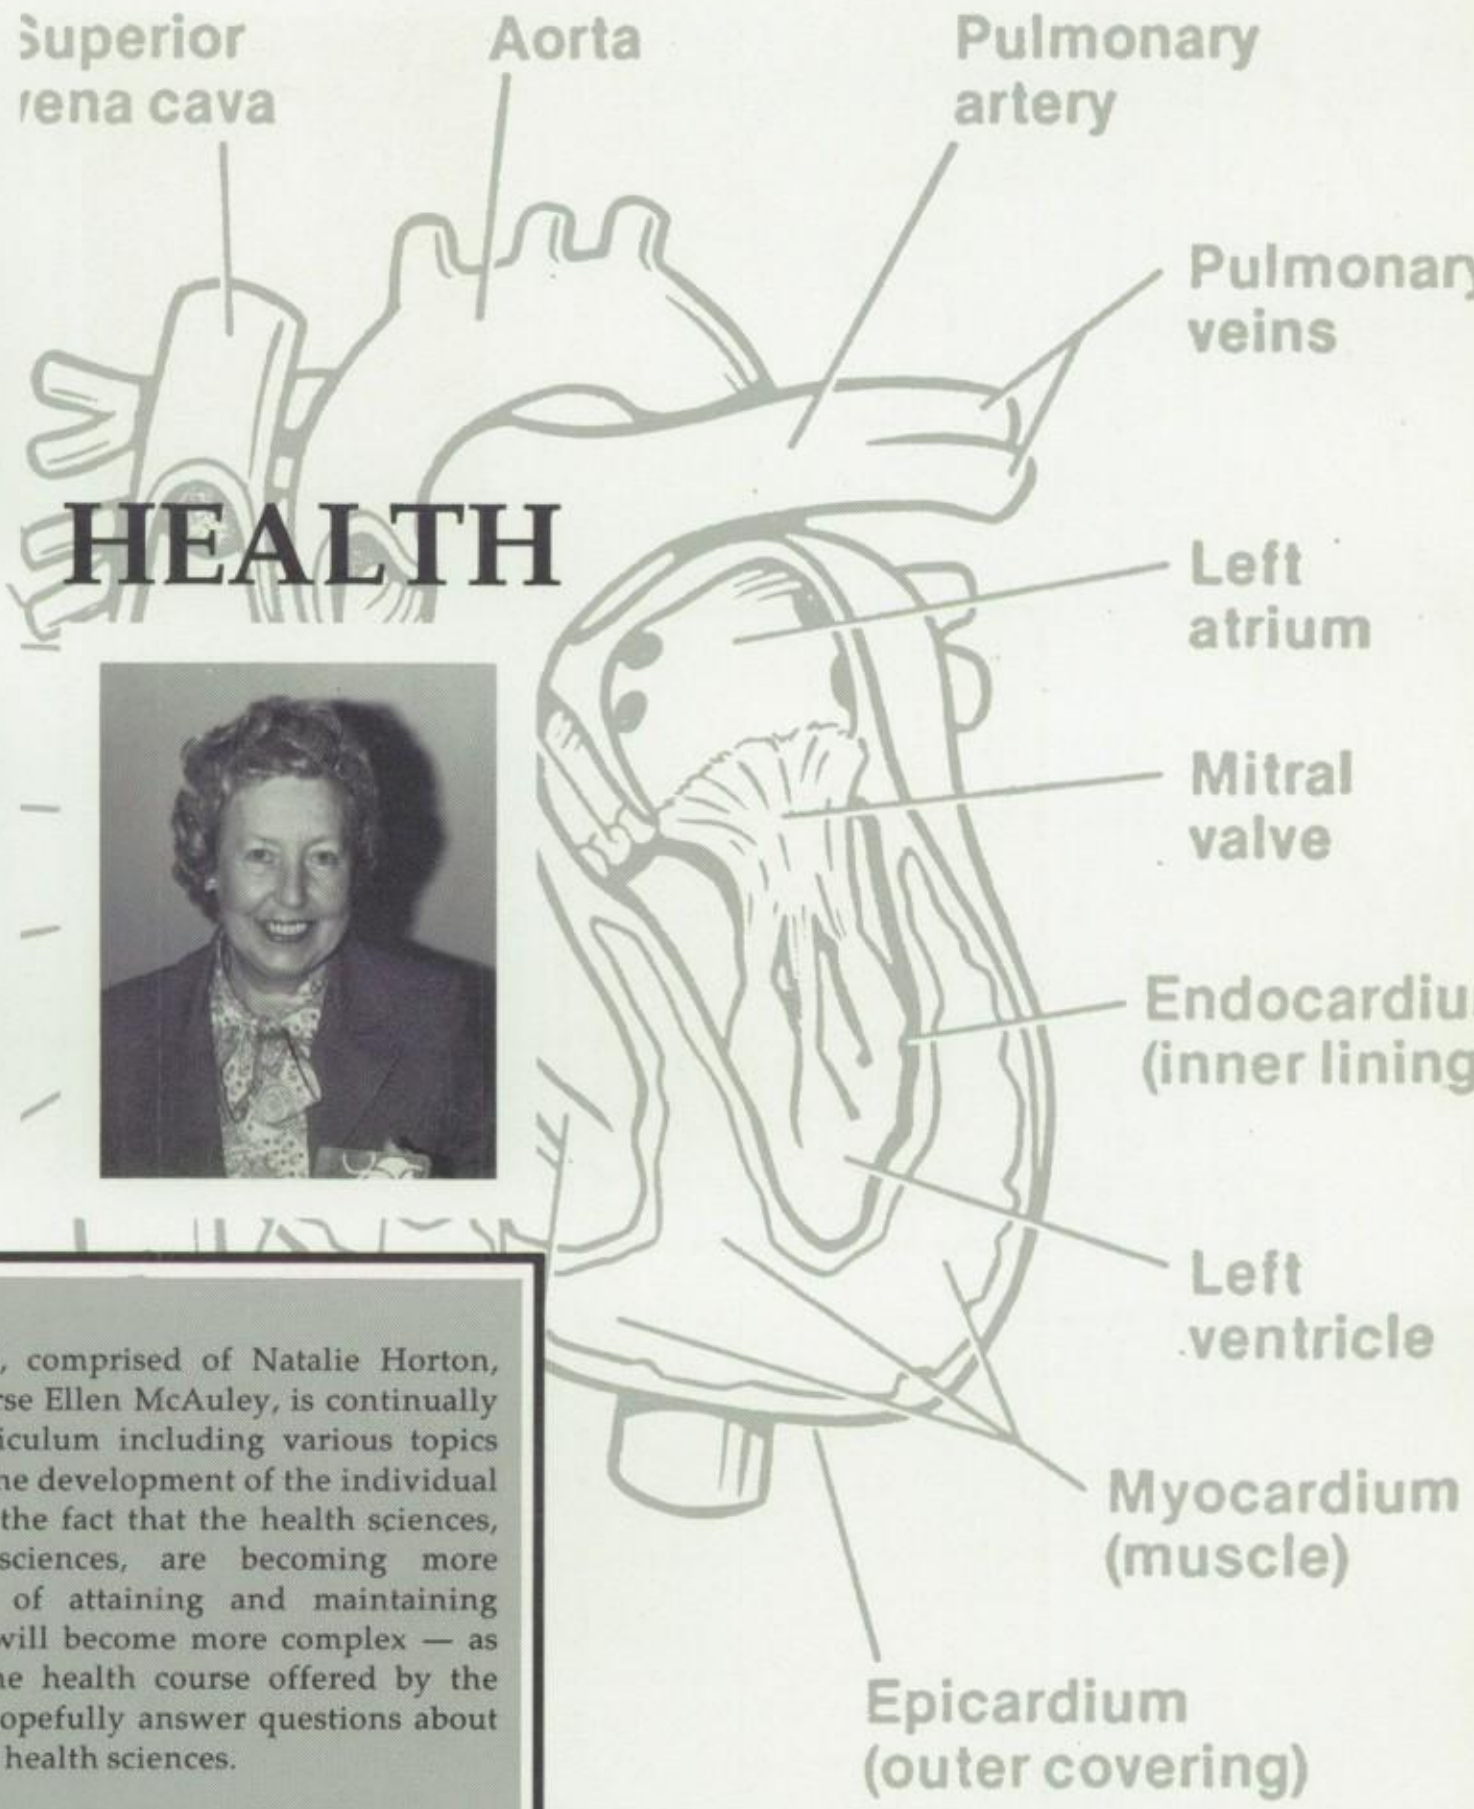
2. Pamela DeMarco
3. William Dougherty
4. Warren King
5. Loretta Stefek-Freiden

Encouraging the student to participate in athletics in an effort to achieve and maintain physical fitness is the primary goal of the Physical Education Department. The main emphasis is on carry-over sports, which are taught in the hope of being useful to the student later in life. An elective system, in which the student may choose the sport he wishes to take part in gives him the opportunity to participate in a variety of sports each quarter, some indoor, some outdoor. Mr. Robert Allen is the Department's competent Chairman.

HEALTH



The Health Department, comprised of Natalie Horton, Patricia Broderick, and Nurse Ellen McAuley, is continually striving to provide a curriculum including various topics that in some way relate to the development of the individual in modern society. Due to the fact that the health sciences, including the medical sciences, are becoming more sophisticated, the means of attaining and maintaining desirable levels of health will become more complex — as well as more effective. The health course offered by the school seeks to raise and hopefully answer questions about modern health care and the health sciences.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The Department of Industrial Arts affords students the opportunity to prepare for our complex technological society through courses in Architecture and Engineering, Auto and Power Mechanics, Wood Working, and Alternative Energy Studies. Richard Gagliardi is in charge of the metal shop, Carl Russo is in charge of the Wood Shop, and Richard Bucher is in charge of the Photography curriculum.

HOME ECONOMICS

The Home Economics Department offers courses which give students the skills they need for daily living. A full three year sequence includes courses in the areas of Nutrition, Textiles, Consumerism, Parenting, and Child Development. Attention is also given to specialty areas such as International Foods and Clothing Design. The Home Economics teacher is Kathleen Maher.

FINE ARTS

Emphasizing freedom in personal expression for the artist, the Fine Arts Department stresses creativity and imitation, as well as interpretation. These words describe the art concepts offered in a wide variety of art classes which includes an Advanced Placement course. Charlie Morrongiello and Dehise Clancy are the Fine Arts instructors.

MUSIC

The Choral Music Department, under the guidance of Dr. Lydia Morrongiello, gives students an opportunity to pursue an interest in singing various types of music ranging from classical to popular, by participating in the Madrigals, Celestones, or Concert Choir. The highlight of this year's calendar was Madrigals' and Celestones' tour of England.

Mr. Peter Stanganelli directs the Instrumental Music Department, comprised of the Concert Band, Orchestra, Stage Band, and Jazz Ensemble. Exposing students to assorted forms of musical literature including popular, rock, jazz, and classical, these groups perform several times throughout the year. The band's successful participation in Newsday's Marching Festival epitomized the school's high regard for musicianship.

BUSINESS

Striving to provide students with an understanding of modern business practices, the Business Education Department gives the student an opportunity to master the basic skills of communication, computation, and reasoning, which are so necessary for success in life. Whether the student is preparing for post-secondary education or immediate employment after graduation, it is the hope of the Business Education Department that one will be prepared to deal confidently with other people, make competent and informed decisions, and generally be motivated toward continued self-improvement.

DEDICATION

As our years at Garden City Senior High School come to a close, it is extremely difficult to give thanks and credit to those who have made our years here very special. Upon reflection, one man stands apart from all the rest; that man is Mr. Warren King.

Warren King attended high school at Peddie, a prep school in New Jersey. Despite his 5'8", 155 lb. frame, he competed in both football and track, and was ultimately named as an outstanding athlete.

An excellent student, Warren King then proceeded to Dartmouth College, majoring in History, and again taking part in football and track. He played football, performing as both punter and halfback, for one of the most renowned college coaches, Earl "Red" Blaik. In his autobiography, Blaik cites King as one of his superior players. Although he was elected to the college all-star football team, touring Europe as a member of it as well, his football expertise was overshadowed by King's brilliant career in track. In track, Warren King recorded personal bests of 9.6 seconds in the 100, and 24 feet in the long jump. In 1936, as a sophomore, King ran in one of the several Olympic trials held, running on a victorious 440 relay team, but narrowly missed being selected for the Berlin Olympics (where Jesse Owens was labeled as Hitler's mentor). Upon graduation from Dartmouth in 1938, King moved on to Springfield University to obtain his Masters Degree in Physical Education, where he also served as varsity backfield coach.

Hired in the fall of 1940 by Garden City High School, Warren King arrived with tremendous publicity, as he was widely known for his college football stardom. His debut in Garden City was a successful one, for he coached his team to its first of many undefeated football seasons, and was named Nassau Coach of the Year by Newsday.

In 1942, Warren King joined the U.S. Navy, and served aboard a destroyer in the Pacific during World War II; he then returned to Garden City in 1946, and resumed his coaching duties.

In the late 1940's, Garden City became Long Island's best track team under the guidance of Warren King, obtaining titles for three consecutive years (1947, 1948, 1949), and setting a state record of 1:29.6 in the 880 relay. The team of 1949 produced Henry Thresher who, like King, was a 9.6 sprinter, and a high school All-American. Warren King's over-all track record at Garden City includes 312 wins, with 21 championships.

The Garden City football teams of the 1950's had an outstanding record of 25 wins in 29 games, with undefeated teams in both 1954 and 1956, as well as another championship in 1957. In 1954, King became the first two-time winner of the Nassau Coach of the Year award. Since the 1950's, five additional teams have given up only one game per season, the latest in 1979.

Some of the top players under Warren King continued to play the game of football professionally, including Don McCauley ('67) of the Baltimore Colts, and John Cervini ('71) of the Detroit Lions.

After a football coaching career totalling forty years, and resulting in 142 victories, Warren King retired, and was succeeded in his coaching position by William Dougherty. In the spring of 1981, the Trojan Club included in its Sports Hall of Fame, comprised of outstanding former athletes and coaches, Warren King. At Homecoming, in the fall of 1981, the football field was officially christened as "Warren King Field."

No one in the class of 1982 will ever forget the loyalty and dedication of Warren King. We thank him for the time and energy he has supplied to better our class, our school, and our lives.

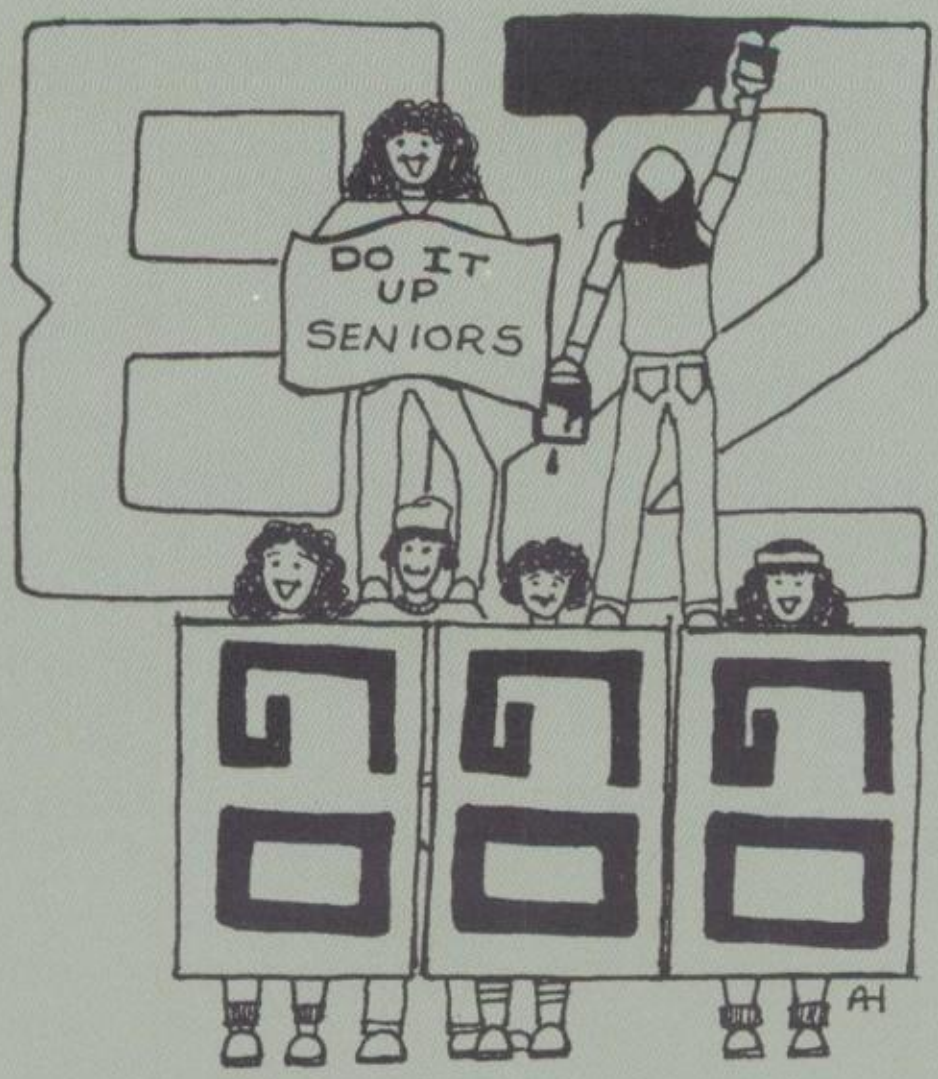
In honoring Coach King for his four decades of coaching at Garden City High School, the Men's Association presented him with his Dartmouth football jersey, number 26, in June, 1981.

"This was more final than the moment when the Headmaster handed me my diploma. My schooling was over."

Garden City's senior class of 1982 is truly a heterogeneous body. There are some who are striving for acceptance into the top-notch universities, some whose raison d'etre is a winning soccer season, and some who live to party on the weekends. We have our student council presidents, our football team captains, our yearbook editors, and our drum majors, cheerleaders, trojanettes, and color guard. We are all individuals, each possessing unique talents.

Yet, in many ways we are similar. We all come down with "senioritis" at one time or another. We are not old enough to accept many responsibilities, but not quite young enough to shun them. We conveniently are old enough to drive, but not responsible enough to take our brothers and sisters across town. We are old enough to work, but aren't quite responsible enough to save any money. We are old enough to be aware of problems in our world, yet still we are just not experienced enough to be expected to do anything about them. Yes, seniors represent that which everyone else older would like to be once again, and what everyone younger can't wait to be.



CLASS HISTORY

As the class of 1982, we began our high school years as ninth graders, although we technically were not in high school at that time. Under the guidance of Doc Comerford, our participation and development as a class in student government was initiated. We entered a car in the traditional Homecoming Parade and eagerly began our task of earning the money which would be necessary in later years. We greatly enjoyed our elder status in the junior high school, yet looked ahead to our future in the senior high.

As sophomores, we zealously became involved in the many activities of the high school. As soon as possible, our class officers were elected. They were: Greg Konner, President; Claire Mullooly, Vice President; Patti Rueck, Secretary; Kim Keppler, Social Chairman; Patty Angus, Treasurer; and Rachel O'Brien, Historian. Mr. Wojnar became our class sponsor, and we set off to our work.

Our first dance was held within the early weeks of the school year. Although it was both a social and financial failure, we quickly learned from our mistakes. We began work on our first Homecoming float in the fall; plans were made and designs were drawn. By Homecoming Saturday, 1979, we were prepared to unveil our masterpiece . . . a two-sided float with our year on it in bold red numbers. Our enthusiasm and spirit were evident throughout the day, and we were made even happier when we, the sophomore class, were announced the winners of the float contest.

The ring committee of the class council and Tom Murphy, our Jostens ring company representative, worked arduously in the fall of 1979 to produce the best possible design for our class ring. We ordered our rings in early February, after pondering styles, sizes, and prices. On the crisp and clear evening of March 7, 1980, the class of 1982 gathered in the cafeteria to turn rings at the traditional annual Ring Dance.

The last fund-raising event of the year was the screening of the sci-fi film Alien. This movie grossed several hundred dollars for the class treasury, putting our grade on its fiscal feet.

The Junior Class Officers were elected at the end of our sophomore year, so that the new class council could begin its work as early as possible. The new officers were: Meg Chute, President; David DeGroot, Vice President; Rosemarie Moringiello, Secretary; Steve Alfieri, Social Chairman; Patty Angus, Treasurer.

During the summer, Mr, Wojnar and the council visited many venues to decide the site of the 1981 Junior-Senior Prom. We chose the Huntington Townhouse, in spite of its interior, for its quality and reputation. Two bands were selected for prom entertainment: The Gabis Brothers and Opus. The menu was determined, the photographers hired, and the program designed by the council.

Homecoming 1980 was here before we knew it, yet the Class of '82 was prepared. We brought out our float from the previous year and decided that a little revitalization was all that it needed. We decorated our many cars and had a huge turnout of supportive juniors. For the second year, our class won the float contest. Meanwhile council members were selling Garden City sweatshirts at the football game. We designed the hooded sweatshirts in the traditional colors of maroon and gray, and the proceeds of the sale helped our treasury grow.

Another movie, The Kids are Alright, was shown by the class in the winter of 1981 to raise money. The picture was a musical history of the rock and roll group, The Who. A large turnout of junior high students made the night a financial success for the council, but a viewing nightmare for the audience. In March, 1981, the annual PTA sponsored dance was held. The band Syndicate provided the music at the "celebration," and was able to get everyone out on the dance floor. A good time was had by all.

The council spent the end of junior year working on plans for the upcoming Prom, being given for the Senior class. Invitations were sent out to all juniors and seniors in late May, and the guys plucked up their collective courage to ask out those girls of their dreams for a night to remember. The tickets were sold at a fast pace, even at the steep price of $45.00 per couple. On Prom night, June 19, 1981, the rain was plentiful but could not dampen the bright spirits of the crowd. "Dad's good car" had a fresh coat of wax on as it drove up to the valet in front of the hall. Inside, the long dresses and pastel tuxedos were everywhere. The small brandy snifters that our council had chosen as the Prom souvenir, with the Prom theme, "The Best of Times," inprinted on it in maroon, were given out early in the evening. By the end of the evening, there was doubt as to whether the chandelier on the floor below us would survive the night, such was the fury of our dancing! After the Prom, couples left for early morning parties or strolls(?) on the beach.

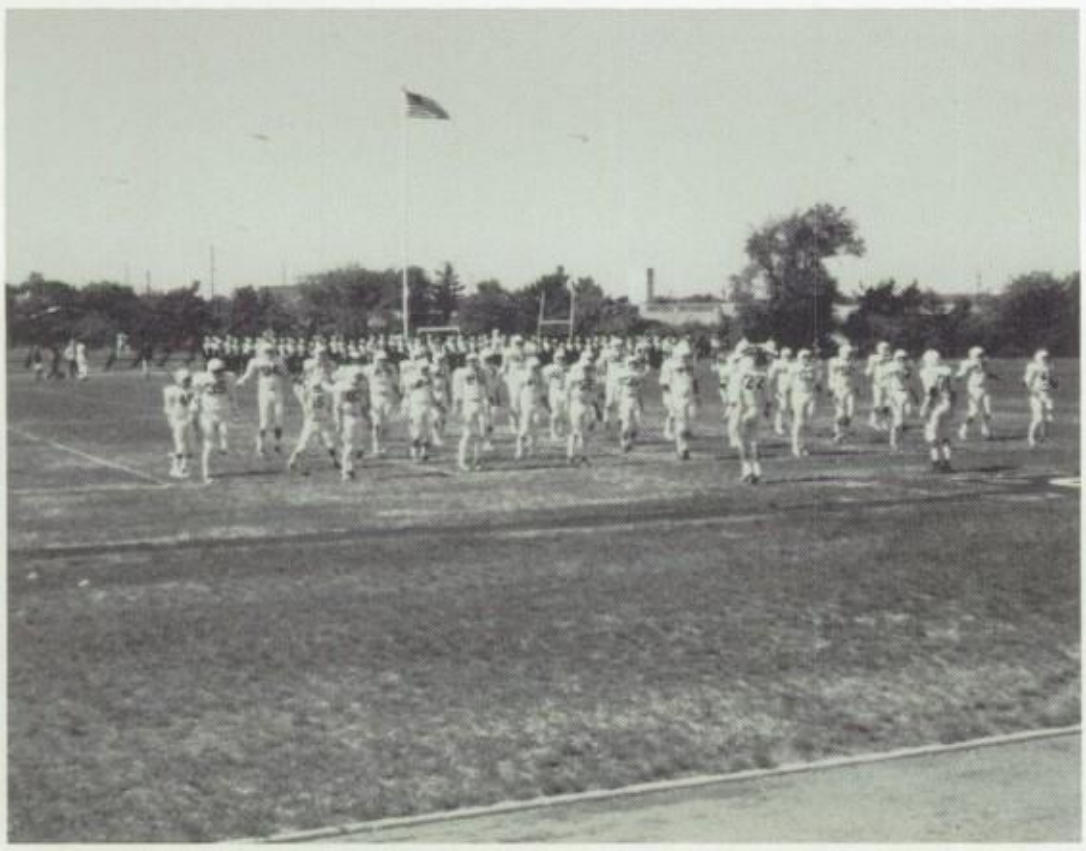
The Senior Class officers were elected in June, 1981. They were: Patty Angus, President; Eric Neiderrither, Vice President; Lynore Kramer, Social Chairman; Jean Sweeney, Secretary; and Alison Downing, Treasurer.

Our senior Homecoming arrived in October, 1981, and found most in the stupor of senioritis. The council got a little lazy with the float, and did nothing to improve on the job of the previous year. Subsequently we gracefully relinquished the float title to the Class of 1983. During the week leading up to Homecoming, the grade nominated the Homecoming Court, with the criterion being service to the class and school. The Court included Patty Angus, Meg Chute, Kim Keppler, Cathy Lawder, Rosemarie Moringiello, Claire Mullooly, Steve Alfieri, David DeGroot, Rich Estes, David Lara, Vinnie Mistretta, and Eric Neiderrither. As a result of balloting by juniors and seniors, Claire and Steve were announced as Homecoming Queen and King during halftime of the football game.



Our class also distinguished itself as the smartest on Long Island in 1982 and in Garden City history by having an incredible thirteen National Merit semi-finalists. This number bested all other schools in the area and eclipsed all previous classes at Garden City as well. The semi-finalists were John Beneke, Gabrielle Costello, Jessica Craner, David DeGroot, Patricia Diaz, Edgar Friedman, Susah Koh, Frances Lashen, Kevin Lynch, Margaret Morgan, Andrew Mylott, Toshihiko Saito, and Kenneth Smith.

The senior class dance was held in mid-October, on a cold and frosty night. The dance was a costume party and all grades were invited. A disc jockey, A.J. and the Hit Machine, provided the music at the function.

The Student Council also started its busy year under the guidance of Dr. Tarrou. The officers were: Steve Alfieri, President; Jimmy Griffith, Vice President; David Lara, Secretary; and Cathy Lawder, Treasurer. They organized the Winter Wonderland, a date dance that is held annually on the first Saturday of Christmas vacation. From the lovely court of six, which included Annemarie Burget, Joanne D'Antonio, Jean Gibbons, Lynn Keshian, Lorraine Krebs, and Vikki Vought, Lynn was selected by her peers as the Snow Queen. The dance was a festive and cheerful start to our holiday season.

The cold winter nights of early 1982 were brightened by boys' basketball games and movies at the high school. At the final game, Rich Estes inspired the enthusiastic crowd and the team with a memorable rendition of the national anthem. Senior boys performed with the cheerleaders and the kickline to provide many memorable moments as the Trojan hoopsters went on to victory. (They choked in the playoffs the next week.)

With the arrival of spring, the senioritis epidemic intensified as we eagerly waited for college acceptances and our graduation. We had our Prom at Leonard's on June 25th, and our commencement on June 27th included an address by TV commentator Bill Moyers.

During these past years of the Class of 1982, the group of us has developed into a unified body. This period has been a key time in all of our lives for education (both formal and informal), maturation, and development as individuals. Although we are breaking up as a class, and each one of us will become part of a different world, the separate pieces in all of us which were influenced by Garden City High School and its people will be a lasting testament to our years in this school. Subsequently, we owe a debt of gratitude to our parents, teachers, friends, and, ultimately, to all the members of this most special of classes at Garden City High School, the Class of 1982.

OUR TOWN

As we reach the end of our high school years, class members will move away from Garden City permanently or temporarily. To understand fully the changes we have experienced, one must realize that Garden City has continuously provided us with an ideal atmosphere in which to grow and mature, and has remained relatively unaltered during our stay here. From the schools, to the stores on Seventh Street, to the hotel site, the Class of 1982 will bear fond memories of the village. Amidst the quiet, sheltered nature of Garden City there have always been student related activities, ranging from recreation at the pool and Hubbell's Pond to the Village supported athletic associations, service organizations, and employment opportunities. The village has been a place for friends to congregate, associate, and mature in a healthy, comfortable environment.

No matter how far one will travel from Garden City in the future, the town will never be forgotten, and will always be looked upon with pleasant remembrances.

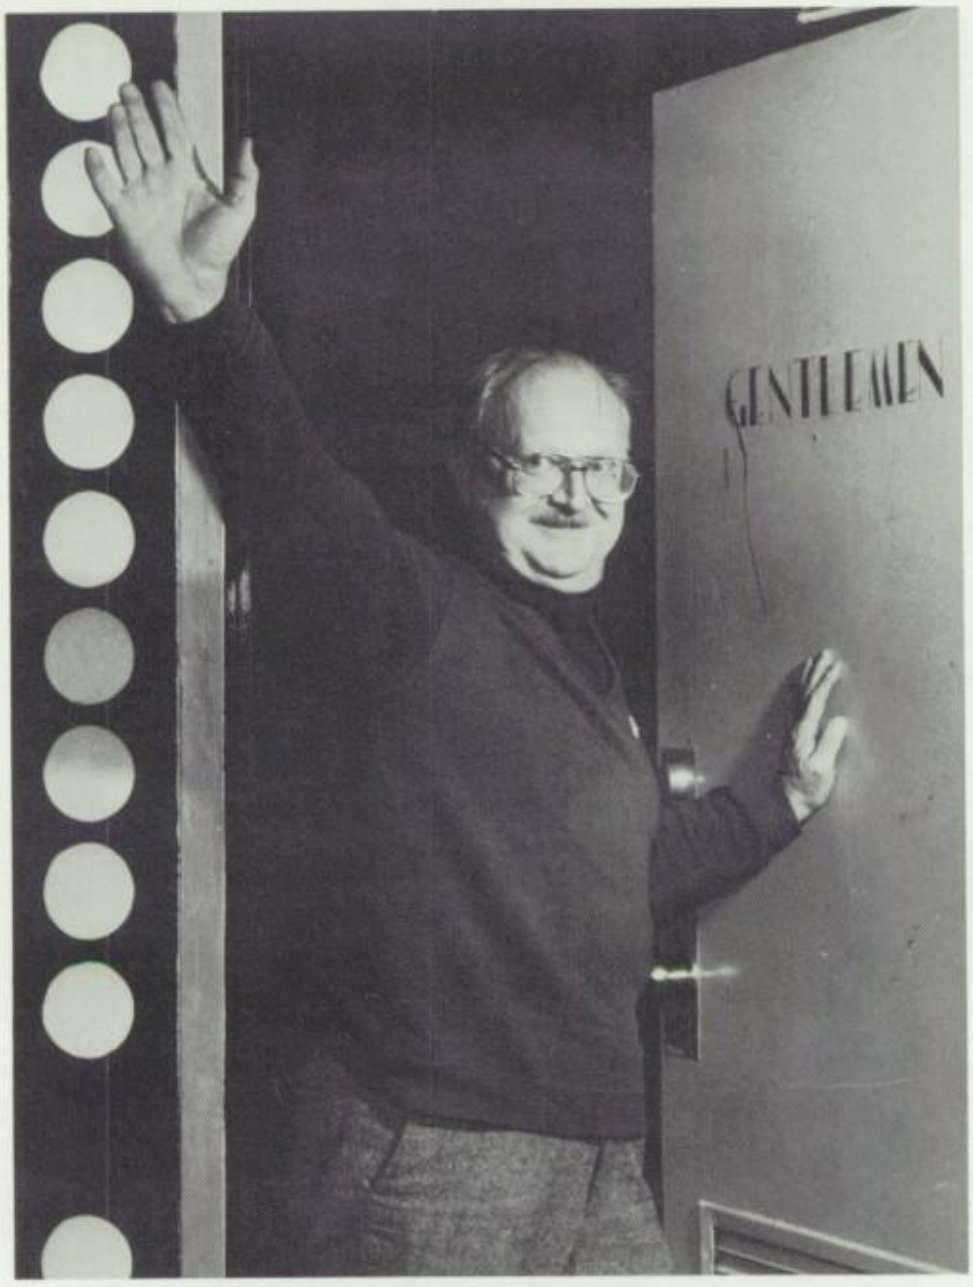
IN APPRECIATION



The Class of 1982, would like to express its appreciation to Mr. Edward Wojnar for his three years of service as class sponsor.

As we entered the Junior High School in 1976, the class was composed of students from a variety of schools and backgrounds. Under the direction of our first sponsor, Dr. Robert Comerford, the separate parts of the class were unified and a truly effective council was elected. A unique chemistry between council and sponsor arose during our stay, and through innovative fund raising activities the treasury was begun.

Mr. Wojnar became our sponsor in 1979, following our move to the High School. Taking over from where "Doc" had left off, Mr. Wojnar provided encouragement and advice in planning council endeavors. His guidance and care have helped make the Class of 1982 one of the most successful graduating classes in Garden City history.

Thank you,
The Class of 1982

1964 brought the crushing defeat of Senator Barry Goldwater and the stunning landslide victory of Lyndon B. Johnson in the Presidential election. As the "Great Society" movement gained momentum, the Civil Rights Act, prohibiting segregation, and the Economic Opportunity Act, working against unemployment were passed. The issuance of the Warren Commission report sparked unrest among many Americans. Noteworthy United States debuts were made by the Beatles and the Class of 1982 (the former being slightly more well-received than the latter.)

While members of the Class of 1982 were concentrating on such mundane matters as walking, talking, and eating, the rest of the world was experiencing large-scale changes. 1965 saw President Johnson building up troops in far-off Vietnam, resulting in widespread anti-war demonstrations throughout the U.S. Johnson's involvement in the Dominican Republic "revolution" bred further contempt among American youth. Meanwhile, amidst the passing of the Voting Rights Act, race riots arose in the Watts section of Los Angeles and Dr. Martin Luther King led the civil rights march on to Montgomery, Alabama.

Chicago, Cleveland, and other Northern cities experienced major race riots throughout 1966, and as U.S. involvement in Vietnam increased, student protests arose throughout the country. The National Organization for Women (NOW) fanned the fire of the growing feminist movement. As Johnson's call for reform progressed, the Medicare program came into existence.

Three years after their triumphant invasion of America, the Beatles released their Sergeant Pepper album, which greatly influenced the "psychedelic" movement around the country (the Class of 1982, as of 1967, had made no comparable contribution.) Throughout the nation, in Detroit, Newark, Rochester, and Washington, urban riots flared. Thurgood Marshall became the first black on the Supreme Court, while the President entered a treaty with Britain and the Soviet Union, pledging peaceful use of outer space.

1968 was a year of great turbulence in America. The assassinations of Dr. Martin Luther King and Robert Kennedy, followed by the riot at the Chicago Democratic Convention further sparked the fear and unrest around the country. Outside the U.S., the North Korean forces seized the U.S. Navy intelligence ship Pueblo. As anti-war demonstrations continued, Columbia University in New York was taken over by the students. The 1968 election saw a heavily criticized Lyndon B. Johnson defeated by Richard M. Nixon.

The Class of 1982 entered kindergarten in 1969, although this event was eclipsed by the first moon landing later that same year. The war in Vietnam showed no signs of abating, and in protest, thousands of young people flocked to Woodstock for three days of peace. The brutal My Lai massacre was revealed, contributing to the disillusionment America was feeling toward the war. Senator Edward Kennedy had a decidedly poor year, which included the infamous Chappaquiddick incident.

1970 brought the breakup of the Beatles amidst widely publicized legal disputes (the class of 1982, however, decided to continue as a group, and consequently entered its first year of grade school). President Nixon ordered the U.S. troops in Southeast Asia to invade Cambodia, resulting in heightened protest throughout the country. During the same year, reforms were passed to enforce national environmental policies, and to increase the power of police enforcement officials in the District of Columbia, to serve as a model of tougher police laws for the nation.

The economic situation in the United States began to look poor in 1971; the American dollar was devalued by 8.75% as a result of President Nixon's wage and price controls. Passage of the 26th Amendment lowered the voting age to eighteen. Anti-war sentiment grew as the Pentagon Papers were published and Lt. William Calley was court-martialed for the My Lai incident three years earlier.

1972 was a poor year for the Nixon Administration. Following Nixon's triumphant visits to Russia and China during the campaign trail, several government-employed men were caught inside the Democratic party's national headquarters at Watergate. The Watergate affair detracts from public opinion of Nixon, and John Mitchell resigns his post. During the year, the Senate passed the Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution.

In 1973, "Watergate" dominated the American political scene. Spiro T. Agnew resigned from the vice-presidency, and Gerald R. Ford replaced him.

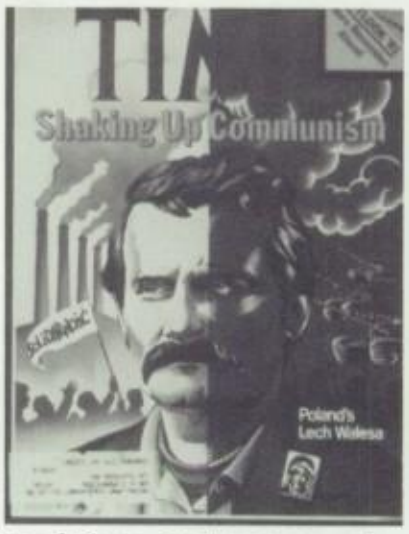
The final effect of the "Watergate" scandal arrived in 1974, when President Richard M. Nixon resigned, and Gerald R. Ford became our 38th president.

1975 marked the end of the war in Vietnam. American and Soviet astronauts docked in space, and unemployment in the U.S. reached 9.2%, the highest level since 1941.

The Presidential election in 1976, America's Bicentennial year, produced the defeat of Gerald R. Ford, and the election of James E. Carter as leader of our country, with Walter F. Mondale chosen as Vice-President.

In 1977, a massive blackout hit New York City, while the Son of Sam Murderer wreaked havoc there as well. The world mourned the passing of Elvis Presley and Bing Crosby.

Severe snowstorms paralyzed the Northeast in 1978.



In January of 1979, the Shah of Iran left his country for an indefinite amount of time, and one month later, the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini gained control of Iran. In Nicaragua, Anastasio Somoza was deposed by the Sandinistas Liberation Front. President Jimmy Carter's popularity reached an all time low as instability in the Middle East heightened. In November, a group of Iranian students seized the American Embassy in Tehran, Iran, and took sixty American hostages. The students refused to release their hostages until the Shah was returned to Iran for trial. At the time, the Shah was undergoing treatment for cancer in a New York hospital.

Mount St. Helens erupted in 1980, causing panic in the Northwest. The thirteenth Winter Olympic games were held in chaotic Lake Placid, New York, and featured Eric Heiden winning 5 gold medals, and our hockey team triumphing over the Russians. The Summer Olympic Games were not a time of relation for the U.S., as we led a major boycott of the event held in Moscow. Ronald Reagan won a landslide victory over Jimmy Carter on November 4, the first anniversary of the taking of the American hostages. Shock was felt throughout the world as John Lennon was shot and killed outside the Dakota in New York City on December 8. New York fans went wild when the Islanders hockey team won the Stanley Cup in a fierce competition with the Philadelphia Flyers. While OPEC oil prices were chronically on the rise, the Shah of Iran died in Egypt.

1981 started off with a bang when minutes after Ronald Reagan took office as President of the United States with George Bush as his right-hand man, the 52 American hostages were freed from Iran. In March of the same year, John Hinckley Jr., to show his love for actress Jodie Foster, attempted to assassinate President Reagan and wounded the President, as well as Press Secretary James Brady, and Washington Policeman Thomas Delahanty in the process. Pope John Paul II was also seriously wounded in an assassination attempt by a Turkish terrorist, while Egypt's Anwar Sadat was brutally murdered by right-wing Moslem fanatics. Trouble brewed further in Northern Ireland throughout the year, while across the channel, France elected a Socialist leader, Francois Mitterrand. In Poland, Solidarity leader Lech Walesa, along with angry workers, struck and protested widespread shortages. However, the movement was crushed by the brutal Soviet proxies also known as the Polish government in December. On July 29, Prince Charles and Lady Diana Spencer were married in St. Paul's Cathedral in London as the world watched with glee. President Reagan also named Sandra O'Connor as the first woman justice on the Supreme Court.

During 1982, President Reagan proposed his New Federalism as his economic program halted inflation but stirred unemployment. Protests against nuclear arms spread throughout the world. Elections in troubled El Salvador seemed only to cloud the hazy picture there, but heavy turnouts signaled a rejection of Communist guerrillas. Finally, the Class of 1982 broke up in June. However, like the Beatles, our legacy will live on.

"We were in shaky transit . . . from the groveling status of Lower Middlers to the near-respectability of Uppers Middlers."

This year's Juniors and Sophs were fewer in numbers than ever before, but this was hardly noticeable. There were still the same number of gifted students, poindexters, mad scientists, and athletes as in past years. After all, what would we be without them? It's hard for them to watch all the Seniors walk in, walk out, go to lunch, and not come back, but someday they'll be there too. And for some of them, it's the only thing to keep them going.

The Junior Class Council is a group of energetic students who wish to be involved with student government. Under the direction of Mr. Kenney, the class sponsor, the group plans and produces dances, bake sales, and other fund-raising activities. The main concern of the council members is the planning of the 1982 Prom which they will give the Seniors this year.

The Sophomore Class Council is a group of enthusiastic students under the direction of Mr. Martin. They had a very successful year which included various traditional and new events. The first event of the year was the production of an original Homecoming float, which was filled with gray and maroon helium balloons. Other activities included two very successful dances — a Punk Rock Dance and the traditional Class Ring Dance. The major activity of the year was the ordering of class rings. The design was selected through a contest held for the whole grade. The council has achieved great results and hopes to continue to do as well in the future.

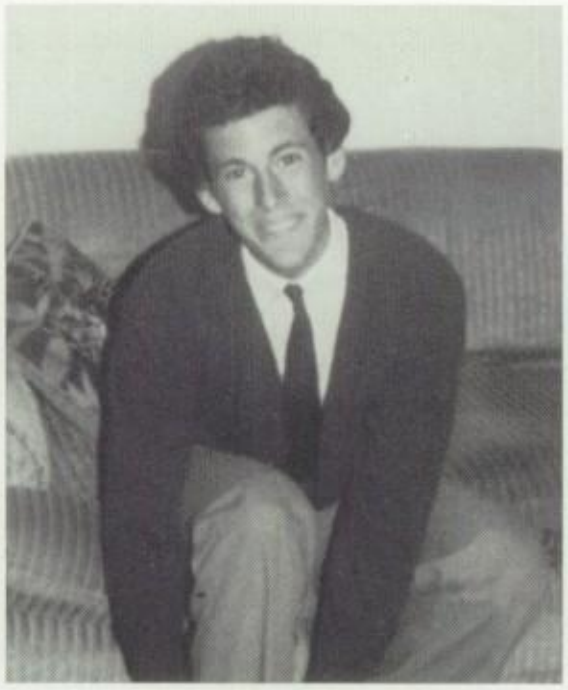
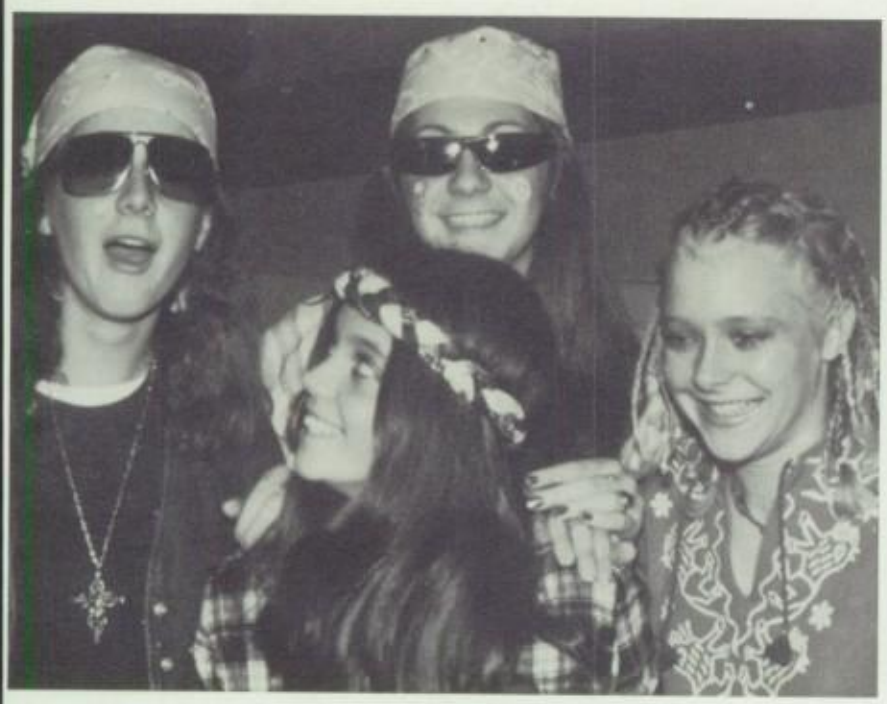
GARDEN CITY
GIRLS HIGH



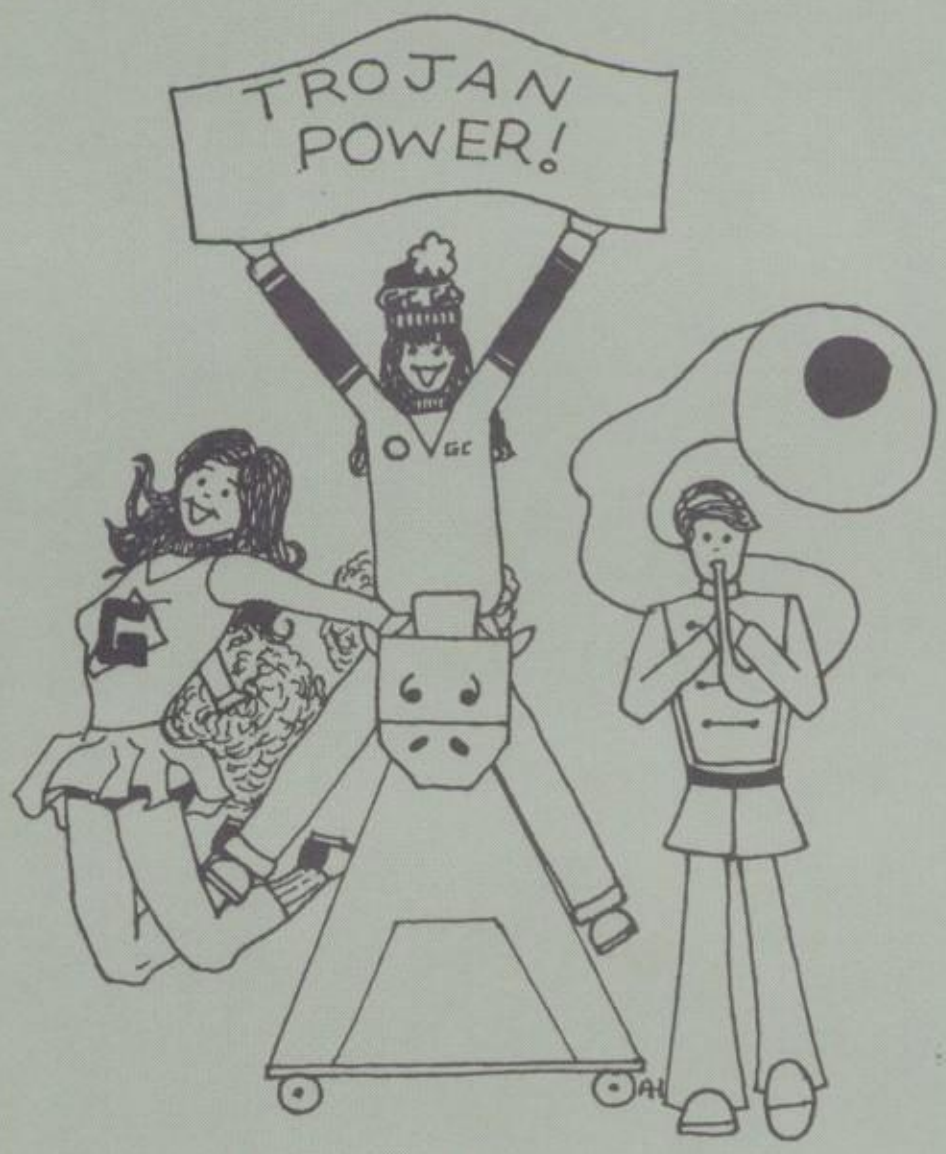
GO FIGHT
HEMPSTEAD FORD
303 MAIN ST



"... Brinker could not do much without company ... so he resigned the presidency of the Golden Fleece Debating Society, stopped writing his school spirit column for the newspaper, dropped the chairmanship of the Underprivileged Local Children subcommittee of the Good Samaritan Confraternity, stilled his baritone in the chapel choir, and even ... resigned from the Student Advisory Committee to the Headmaster's Discretionary Benevolent Fund."

Unbelievable as it may seem, slaving over textbooks until three in the morning, striving for straight A+'s with AP credit, and running directly home after school to watch "General Hospital," are not the only activities which occupy a student's time. There are various clubs available to everyone on a weekly basis at the Garden City High School throughout the school year. Many clubs hold functions on weekends as well, although prying a student away from the television set during a Saturday night viewing of "Love Boat" and "Fantasy Island" is rather difficult.

After school activities are an integral part of a senior's, junior's and yes, even a lowly sophomore's life, and without them, their high school years would not be as memorable. Whether a student is motivated musically, scientifically, culturally, socially, or spiritedly, there exists a club with a dedicated faculty advisor to further his or her interests.



STUDENT COUNCIL

Sitting: R. Mack, M. Kruysman, J. Brown, S. Scarpino, B. Mullin, C. Deakins, M. Cowie, P. Curry, D. DeGroot, C. Lawder, S. Alfieri. Standing: Dr. Tarrou, D. Lara, C. Mullooly, J. Griffith, J. Gibbons, K. Decker.

Once again, the Student Council has diligently worked to uphold the basic principles of a democratic governing body. Consisting of elected Sophomore, Junior, and Senior delegates, the Student Council works to fulfill the needs of the student body as a whole. This year, the council sponsored a video-dance, the annual Winter Wonderland and Spring Fling, as well as helping with the G.O. drive in the beginning of the year. In addition to these activities in school, the council worked with representatives from outside the school in order to improve relationships with the community. The council's sponsor is Dr. James Tarrou.

OFFICERS

STUDENT COURT

Sitting: Tracy Daly, Jean Sweeney, Alison Eschman. Standing: Dr. Dolan, Mr. Allen.

The Student Court consists of three student justices, one administrative justice, one faculty justice and a clerk. Student justices are appointed by the Student Council President and ratified by the Student Council. Students who wish to appeal a penalty for infraction of school rules may submit a brief to the court explaining why the penalty should be reduced or removed entirely. Typically, a student justice investigates the case and, after discussion, a decision is made at the following meeting of the Court. The constitutionality of legislation passed by the Student Council may also be challenged before the Student Court.

DISCIPLINE COMMITTEE

The Discipline Committee is a branch of the administration that reviews the behavior of students who have accumulated an excessive number of demerits. The Board consists of student representatives from the Senior Class and Faculty members, with Mr. Allen as chairman. Recommendations are made to Mr. Lawder about the course of action to pursue in dealing with the future behavior of the student.

Sitting: Mr. Allen, Dr. Borut, Mr. Nelson. Standing: F. Allegro, Mrs DeMarco, Mr. McAleese, N. Morfogen.

MAGAZINE DRIVE

The 36th annual Magazine Drive was one of the most financially successful of the last decade. This major fund raising activity returns forty percent of the magazine sales price to the school as well as rewarding students who sell subscriptions. The reward, in the form of tangible gifts such as portable televisions, cameras, radios, and savings bonds, is based on the number of subscriptions obtained by each student. Each year $1000 is turned over to the Student Council and the remainder of the profits is distributed to the three classes based on the percentage of sales made by each class. The drive is organized and conducted by a committee of junior and senior girls, and is sponsored by Dr. Decker.

The National Honor Society is a service organization which bases its membership on scholarship, character, leadership, and service. To be eligible for membership, a student must have and maintain a certain grade point average, and also must be nominated by two faculty members. As well as providing a tutoring service, the club tabulates honor ratings at the end of each academic quarter.

This year, members attended a faculty symposium at Adelphi University, held a Senior Citizen's Day, and participated in other community activities. The year ended with the induction of members for 1982-1983. The club is sponsored by Mr. Slocombe and Mr. Maloney.

LIBRARY AIDES

One of the major factors contributing to the efficient operation of the library is the staff of student aides. They volunteer their free time, either during study halls or before and after school, to help in the library. The aides perform a number of services, including signing out books, checking in returned materials, shelving books and magazines, helping with the copy machine, binding magazines, and assisting both students and faculty. STUDENT EXCHANGE

Four Garden City students spent their summers in foreign countries this year under the auspices of the International Student Exchange. There are two programs offered to the students: Experiment in International Living and Youth for Understanding. The difference between these programs is that the Experiment offers a two week travel period in addition to a month spent with a family, whereas the Youth program is a two month stay with one family. After this great experience the Ambassadors are able to share their experiences with other students and various community organizations through slide presentations and speeches.

BOTANY CLUB

Currently the computers are used for attendance, student data records, and generation of lists. A small group within CORE is currently working on transferring the attendance and listing now done on expensive time-sharing facilities to microprocessors owned by the district. CORE students are also involved in writing programs to put guidance functions such as grade reporting, computing of averages, class rank, and honor roll on the microcomputers.

CORE, led by Dr. Roderic A. Beaulieu, performs an essential service for the school. Members put in many hours and deserve recognition for the work they do.

This year, Masquers first completed its fall show, "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds" by Paul Zindel, which was shown in November. In February, they performed a children's play, "Pegora the Witch." As their final accomplishment, they held an all school musical in the spring. In addition to the plays, Masquers also held a drive to replace costumes lost in the fire in June, 1981. Masquers was unable to use the large stage for half the year, but they managed quite well. The officers of the club are: President, Maryrose Ostrowski, Vice-President, Jamila Paksima, Treasurer, Nicholas Zografos, Secretary, Monique Lipari and Sergeant-at-Arms, Emily O'Neill. Mrs. Spiers, our sponsor, is being assisted by two Garden City graduates — James Cusack with stage craft and Karen Criscuolo with Children's Theatre, and Cece Blake, a performing musician, with "Grease."

This year also marked another first in G.C. history: the Marching Band, Majorettes, and Color Guards were accompanied by the Cheerleaders and Trojanettes, a combination which worked well at halftime shows and highlighted the season with an outstanding Hofstra performance. The Marching Band also played in the major community parades. The concert season starts with the Christmas Concert, continues with the Pop Concert, and ends with the Spring Concert. During the concert season, the Garden City Band Follies is one of the more popular events. At this time members of the Band get a chance to show various talents and also have some fun. The goals of the team are: (1) to increase interest in mathematics of both the participants and the student body as a whole, (2) to enhance the academic reputation of the high school by succeeding in competitions, and (3) to give a group of selected students an awareness of mathematics in areas not normally treated in the usual curriculum.

At the present time, interest in Mathletes is increasing. The team is beginning to experience the results of expanded programs in both the elementary schools and the junior high school. The team has improved greatly, winning the first meet against six other teams. Eventually, the team hopes to be able to sponsor two squads, and rate the best among schools in Nassau County.

EDITORS-IN-CHIEF
David DeGroot, Marie Lucca, Rich Estes

I never get any respect.

The 1982 Mast staff opted for the casual approach to yearbook production. Laughing in the face of rigid deadlines, rising above the frequent feuds between the editors-in-chief, remaining optimistic under the ominous prospect of a September yearbook delivery, the staff held together and ultimately vanquished mounting pressures and unforeseen circumstances (like losing most of the photos) to complete its task.

Mast consists of student writers, photographers, artists, and many other dedicated students who improvise in such specialized skills as layout and graphics. There is one other intangible element that makes a yearbook staff: drive. Drive made this yearbook possible. The quantity of time, anguish, and lost sleep did not matter, the work got done, and done well. The price in blood, sweat, and tears of the creation of this yearbook was high, but no staffer would say that the fruits of our labors were not worthwhile. Seeing the finished product of so much work is one of the most satisfying feelings in the world. Just as satisfying was the feeling of comradeship, as the separate individuals that made up the Mast staff this year united as one.

The past year has had its fond memories: office painting, furniture procurement, the Miss Piggy conspiracy, Simon parties, the unforgettable Christmas decorations, Hector and the hose, and editorial staff screaming matches (always a treat, and usually a dead heat between Dave and Marie).

In closing, the staff would like to thank the assistants, typists, and other helpers for all of their service. A debt of gratitude is owed to the juniors who contributed, but we'll give them the responsibility of the yearbook next year instead. The impeccable photography of Mr. Buck Miller of Wedgewood was indispensable. And Mr. Phil St. Pierre of Taylor Publishing couldn't have been better in his guidance, connivance, and patience. However, the greatest measure of graditude goes to Mr. Drew Weinlandt, our "fine young" advisor, and our friend. Mere words cannot express the appreciation we have for his work (and himself). Lastly, the Mast staff thanks you, the Class of 1982, for giving us the chance to record the memories of the best class to ever pass through the doors of Garden City High School.

Who touched our Quad-Paks?

Mr. Buck Miller, Photographer

"No locker room could have a more pungent air . . ., sweat predominated, but it was richly mingled with smells of paraffin and singed rubber, of soaked wool and linament, and for those who could interpret it, of exhaustion, lost hope and triumph and bodies battling against each other."

When one takes a mid-winter Saturday afternoon stroll across the majestic Warren King Field, one can hardly keep from hearing echoes of cheers from past partisan crowds. Excellence in athletics in Garden City is a tradition which is grown in the field's grass, whistled through the surrounding trees, and cemented into the bordering walls. Faithful students do no less than what this tradition demands by voicing their support for the various teams during both favorable and not-so-favorable times.

Garden City athletics is by no means a single unit. References are made to the athletic program in toto, even though there are a number of separate, distinct sports. These include the girl's soccer, volleyball, field hockey, basketball, and softball teams; and the boy's soccer, football, baseball, and basketball teams. Not only are Garden City's teams of 1982 extending tradition, but they are also displaying a sportsmanship and compassion unheard of in other districts. Our football players are neither bent on crushing the life out of others, nor are our wrestlers bent on smothering their opponents into the mats.

★Nassau Conference II Championship

(Losses to West Hempstead were later reverted to victories by forfeit upon discovery of West Hempstead's use of an ineligible fifth-year student. Garden City and Wantagh, Division II-B runner-up, shared the Conference II title.)

This year's varsity football team, led by new head coach William Dougherty, brought the winning tradition back to Garden City football. After suffering through an 0-8 season last year, this year's team defied all predictions by winning the Conference II-A championship with a 4-1 leage record. Their success must be attributed to their hard work, self-discipline and will to win. All of these, plus a new offensive outlook instituted by Coach Dougherty, made for a successful season.

The team's forte was its tough defense. The defense, which was led by seniors John Ireland and Jeff Bayuk, posted three shut-outs. Other outstanding performers on defense included Peter Kenny, Bill Stutzmann, and Sean Dougherty, who led the team in interceptions with four. Although the offense was, at times, inconsistent they did turn in some fine performances. Most memorable was their 28-25 come-from-behind victory over then-previously unbeaten Bethpage. The offense was built around senior halfbacks Mike McCutcheon, who led the team in rushing with 525 yards and Jim Halliwell, who led the team in receptions with ten. Sophomore quarterback Sean Dougherty performed admirably, throwing four touchdown passes. However, no offense could have been generated without the help of the linemen. The line consisted of John Ireland, Jeff Bayuk, Mike Finegan, Brian Emmert, Peter Kenny and Frank Allegro.

Although the season ended on a dismal note with the team's 20-0 loss to West Hempstead at Hofstra in the Conference Championship game, the team can be proud of a truly fine season.

Individual honors were won by Jeff Bayuk and John Ireland, who made All-County; also Sean Dougherty, Jim Halliwell, Mike McCutcheon, Peter Kenny, Frank Allegro, and Brian Emmert received All-Division honors.

 Nassau Conference II Championships

The 1981 varsity soccer team produced yet another divisional title. The title is the eleventh consecutive one for Coach Briller.

What the team lacked in experience, due to graduation last year, was made up for by its spirited, hard-working and all-out desire to win. The offense, with a seasonal total of sixty goals, was spearheaded by senior James Koester. Koester ended his varsity career at Garden City with 38 goals, making him #2 on the all-time scoring list. The leading goal scorer on this year's team was Junior Vinny Caputo who ended up with 18 goals. Dave Aromiskis, Hugh Paisley,Peter Connolly, Russell Cavallo and Bill Lake also contributed to the team's offense. However, the team's success must be largely attributed to the defense. Led by Junior goalie, Geordie Delaporte, who registered ten shut-outs, the defense continually kept Garden City opponents at bay. Defensive stalwarts included Roger Gieseke, Tom Gillian and Peter Hester.

After winning their opening playoff game in overtime against Port Washington, the team suffered a heartbreaking and controversial set-back at the hands of Oceanside. Although the Trojans dominated the game, they came up on the short side of a 5-2 decision. Despite the loss, it was another successful season for Trojan soccer.

Additional honors were won by James Koester, who made All-County, and Hugh Paisley, Roger Gieseke, and Dave Aromiskis, who received All-League honors.

Co-captains Kiki Ottaino and Rob Reinhardt led the defense while Tom Pagonis and Don Schreier led the offense. The highlight of the season was Nick Philippides' goal in overtime to defeat a very tough Chaminade team, 1-0.

This year's Boys' Cross Country Team performed admirably, recording eight victories versus six losses. Considering the talent (3 top runners) they had lost from last year's squad, their record is quite and achievement indeed. The team, led by Senior Tom Lee (All-Division) and Mark Weisburg (All-Division and All-Conference) placed fifth in their conference and in the Top 20 in the County meet.

This was the first year that Garden City had a Girls' Cross Country team. Their record was seven victories versus five losses. The team consisted of Tricia Foley, Moira Hanely, Carolyn Heaney, Jane Macyko, Michele Turchiano, Betsy Weekes, and Jenny Weekes. Jenny Weekes led the team throughout the season and made the All-Conference and All-County teams.

VOLLEYBALL

The Girls' Volleyball team had a tough season facing top teams from Port Washington, Great Neck North, and Bethpage. Led by a core of seniors including Captain Peggy Murphy, the girls completed their season winning three of their twelve games. Peggy Murphy was selected to the All-Conference Team. In winning the conference championship the girls scored 77 goals while giving up 3 and registered 11 shut-outs. Some of the highlights included a 3-0 victory over top conference rival Port Washington and a 3-2 win over the number two team in Suffolk County North Babylon. In the second round of the Nassau County playoffs the team suffered a heartbreaking defeat (1-2) to Cold Spring Harbor in double overtime. Garden City was ranked among the top five of 34 teams in Nassau.

The team showed a lot of versatility in that most players were able to play most positions and were switched frequently. Six players received All-Conference honors and three were elected to the All-County team. Captain Alison Downing was also selected to play on the winning Nassau team against Suffolk in the exceptional senior game. Unfortunately, three main defenders Nancy Poz, Stacey Poole, and Lisa Bayuk were injured for most of the season.

The loss of eight graduating seniors will definitely hurt the team's chances next year. However, Coach Guddat is optimistic about the future since several excellent players from this year's J.V. will be joining the team.

GIRLS' J.V. SOCCER

In its first year, the Girls' Junior Varsity Soccer team turned in an outstanding record of 8-2. While playing top-ranked teams such as Massapequa and Berner, the girls showed their fine skills and should have no trouble making the transition to Varsity next year. "Awesome" is the way Jim O'Neill described the Garden City Wings' season. The team raced to a 16-3-1 regular season record, holding on to first place from beginning to end. Mr. Newlin-Wagner, has coached this talented squad to one of the best records in team history. The team dominated most of its games, scoring an average of 5.2 goals per game while allowing only 2.0 goals per game. The Wings were led by the offensive firepower of Asst. Captain Tom Hogan; Captains Geordie Delaporte and Peter Rudolph; the strong and dependable defense of Asst. Captains Chuck Krieg and Jim O'Neill; and the superb goaltending of Chris Edwards.

The team made it to the county semi-finals, but lost 2 out of 3 to G.C. nemesis Oceanside. Congratulations to the team for a fine season.

BOYS' VARSITY BASKETBALL

First row: L. Lamonica, J. Halliwell, M. Cowie, D. Aromiskis, K. Culhane. Second row: Coach Tom Martin, T. Pagonis, C. Sotell, K. Inglesby, R. Estes, J. Johnson, A. Gallan, manager Steve Nothel. Missing: W. Preston, S. Gummage (manager), K. Farrell (manager).

At the onset of this year's Varsity Basketball season, there was much expectation for the team, considering the fine records of the two previous Varsity teams. Three returning starters, guards Mike Cowie and Chris Sotell, who had been named All-Division as a junior, and center Rich Estes, formed a nucleus which had been together for six years. Sparkplug Lenny Lamonica, a 5'7" playmaking junior, and sophomore Tommy Pagonis helped to give the team a strong running game.

Coach Tom Martin scheduled some tough games early, and the team responded poorly. After this slow start, the team set out to take the division title. The team stormed through Division II-A as the five starters played up to their ability. Sixth man Jimmy Halliwell, with his finely tuned jumper and stringent defense, also played a large role in the team's turnaround. Impressive victories included two one-point wins over Glen Cove, one of which was telecast on Cablevision as the high school game of the week, thrashings of Great Neck North, Bethpage, and Plainview Kennedy, and a come-from-behind victory over first-place Port Washington in the last game of the season. Only two losses to Herricks denied the Trojans of the division crown, as the squad finished 9 — 3, including five consecutive wins at the end to gain second place.

Seniors Walter Preston and Dave Aromiskis and Juniors Andy Gallan and Kevin Culhane filled in admirably when needed, as did Joe Johnson and Ken Inglesby.

Post-season balloting by the coaches named both Chris Sotell and Mike Cowie to the All-Division and All-Conference teams.

J.V. BASKETBALL

The JV Basketball Team, under the guidance of first-year coach George Paulsen and led by sophomores Ron Judson, Chris Thompson, Pete Spanos, and Junior Tom Elliot, had a successful season, as they won their last seven games. The squad should enrich next year's Varsity Team and shows hopes of continuing G.C.'s winning hoops tradition.

GIRLS' VARSITY BASKETBALL

First row: M. Allegro, C. Braun, L. Norton, D. Joyce, P. Murphy Second row: A. Kelly, E. Thumser, J. Springer, C. Bennett, B. Nowack, Coach J. Dell'Olio.

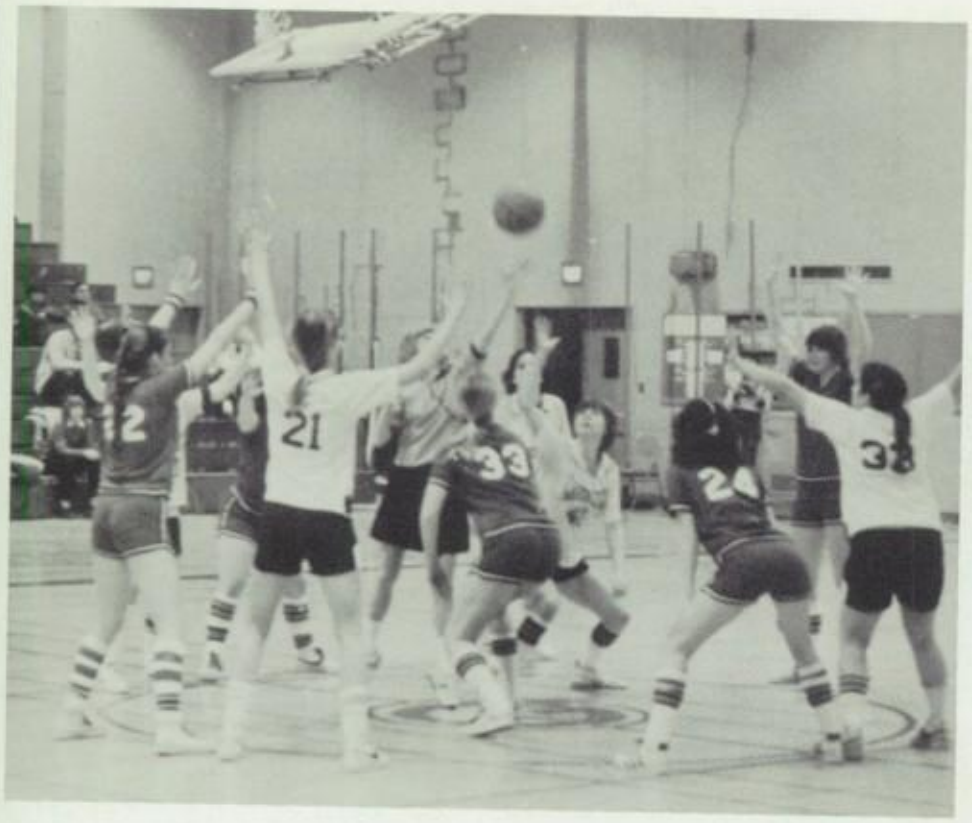
Led by Senior Co-captains Donna Joyce, who averaged 17 points and 11 rebounds per game, and point guard Anne Kelly, 13 points and 8 assists per game, the 1981-1982 Girls' Varsity Basketball Team completed an undefeated season in Conference II-A. Their league record this season was an outstanding 12-0 and including 4 non-league victories, an amazing 16-0.

Other seniors on the squad who contributed greatly were Carol Braun, Peggy Murphy, Linda Norton, and Jeanine Springer.

The girls opened the Section III playoffs with successive wins at home over Lawrence, 51-47, and Syosset, 43-41. In both games Anne Kelly took charge; her twenty-eight points virtually supplied the firepower for G.C.'s come-from-behind victory over Lawrence, and her two clutch free throws with eleven seconds left pulled out a squeaker versus Syosset. In the semi-finals, Garden City finally met its match, succumbing to tough Oceanside, 58-43.

Linda "Clutch" Norton, Donna Joyce, and Anne Kelly were selected to the All-Division team. The All-Conference team included stars Donna Joyce and Anne Kelly.

Four returning lettermen Maria Allegro, Catherine Bennett, Beth Nowack and Elaine Thumser the girls, along with Coach John Dell'Olio, look forward to another successful season next year.



GIRLS' J.V. BASKETBALL

The Junior Varsity Girls' Basketball Team had a fun-filled season breaking in many talented athletes new to the sport. The team was led by the dribbling of Tricia Hoffman, Tracy Daly, the hustling of Alicia Sanders and Alexandra Spirakis, and the sharp-shooting of Jane Macyko and Mary Kate Hoffman.

WRESTLING

First row: J. Clausen, B. Stutzmann, J. Paykin, T. Adams, J. Dehler. Second row: M. Reinhardt, P. Connolly, C. Mercier, S. Ospina, R. Fischer, B. Smith. Third row: M. Pappas, M. Malearba, C. Led by the strong coaching of Dr. Eugene Decker and Bill Slocombe, this year's Varsity Wrestling Team had an impressive season, compiling a 6-6 record overall (3-3 in league meets). Despite the losses of Paul Ziring and Bill Stutzman, the team came on strong, placing fifth in the Division meet. Bruce Smith and Chris Werben took second in their weight classes, while third place was attained by John Dehler, Steve Ospina, Peter Connolly, and Joseph Paykin. Mike Pappas had an effective year, and other fine performances were turned in by Tom Adams, Mike Malerba, Tom Mercante, Chris Mercier, Mike Melkonian, Jeff Clausen, and Ray Fisher. BOYS' BOWLING

The Boys' Bowling Team, coached by Mr. Nelson, suffered through a difficult season, finishing in last place with a 7-35 record. The only bright spot was a high score of 240, turned in by Frank Allegro. Other top bowlers were Jerry Sheehan, Riad El-Dada, and Erroll Oguzhan. Believe it or not, the team could be worse next year as only Vinnie Caputo will be returning.

FENCING TEAM

The Varsity Fencing Team ended its season as the co-champions of Nassau County with a record of 9-1. Captain Nick Petrillo was 14-7 individually and was voted fifth on the County Team and placed sixth in the individual meet for the County, while Marcos Rego-Monteiro (17-3 indiv.) was voted third on the County team and placed fifth in the County meet. The JV squad also dominated as their fencers placed first, second, and third in their County meet.

First row: L. Zolas, B. Paksima, C. Koh, B. Thoet, M. Genberg. Second row: M. Mulligan, M. RegoMontiero, N. Pakisima, Mr. Goodwin, J. Scarpino, N. Petrillo.

First row: P. Sutter, T. Lee, J. Kiyasu, J. Kehoe. Second row: T. Saito, M. Rego-Montiero, T. Hoffelder, R. Estes. M. Weisburg.

The Winter Track Team completed a fairly successful season under coaches Warren King and Bob Busch. The success of the season rested on a third place finish in their division and fifth in the conference, which were both determined by the performances in the Conference II meet. The team entered into only two other "developmental" meets. Outstanding individual performances were turned in by Billy Knox, who captured second in the 1000 meters; Ajay Gupta, who took second in the high jump; Rich Estes and Marcos Rego-Montiero, who placed third and fourth respectively in the 60; and by Tom Hoffelder, who took third in the 60 hurdles. The relay team of Mike McCutcheon, Sean Dougherty, Rego-Montiero, and Billy Knox took second in the country in the mile medley.

GIRLS' WINTER TRACK

The girls' track team finished sixth in Conference 2. In the Conference meet the team had a very good showing. Two 4-lap relay teams finished in the top ten. The team of Lauris Wren, Jenny Weekes and Betsy Weekes finished in 2nd, while the team of Wendy Chin, Michelle Turchiano, Cindy Smith and Julie Weekes finished in sixth place. In individual competition, Carrie Wren took 3rd place in the 1000 meters and Jenny Weekes took 3rd in the 2 mile run.

Two girls were chosen as best overall gymnasts, Dayna Anderson and Chrissy Murphy.

SWIMMING

The boys' swimming team under coach Annie Sullivan finished the 1981-82 season with a disappointing 2-8 record. Despite the losing record, the outlook for next year's team is optimistic since the nucleus of the team will be returning.

BOYS' VARSITY LACROSSE

First row: L. LaMonica, P. Coleman, S. Prestyly, J. Koester (co-capt.), J. Hannon (co-capt.), J. Bayuk (co-capt.), D. Anderson, J. Griffith, C. Spencer. Second row: S. Dougherty, J. Olvany, D. McDonough, B. Peters, B. Lynch, C. Lawder (manager).

This year's Varsity Lacrosse team should be a strong contender for a County Championship. Despite the loss of some key performers from last year's divisional title team, this year's squad could be even stronger. Captains Jeff Bayuk, Jim Koester, and all-county goalie Jim Hannon are the cornerstones upon which the team is built. The defense should be the team's forte with three quality players returning, Jeff Bayuk, Pete Kenny and John Ireland. The offense will be led by senior attackmen Danny Anderson and Jim Griffith. There is also much depth at the mid-field position with Dave Lara, all-conference performer Jim Koester and Steve Prestyly all returning. John Swaine and Chris Spencer should also add speed and quickness to the mid-field position. If Coach Doughterty can unify all of this talent the team should have an excellent season.

The Girls' Varsity Track team hopes to repeat last year's undefeated season. Although the league meets have not begun, the team continues to be dominant in scrimmages. Coached by Mr. Udo Guddat and Mr. Carlo Mazarese, the girls should have an outstanding season.

The Spring Track team, directed by Mr. King and Mr. Busch, expects to have a very successful season. The team will be led by middle distance stars Billy Knox and Tom Lee, sprinters Mike McCutcheon and Marcos Rego-Monteiro, high jumper Chris Sotell and long jumper Rich Estes.

The relays will be led by the mile medley team of Mike McCutcheon, Rich Estes, Marcos Rego-Monteiro, and Billy Knox. This relay is one of the three fastest in the county. The team's depth is not as strong as in past years, but they can look for some record-breaking individual performances from Knox, Estes, McCutcheon, and Lee.

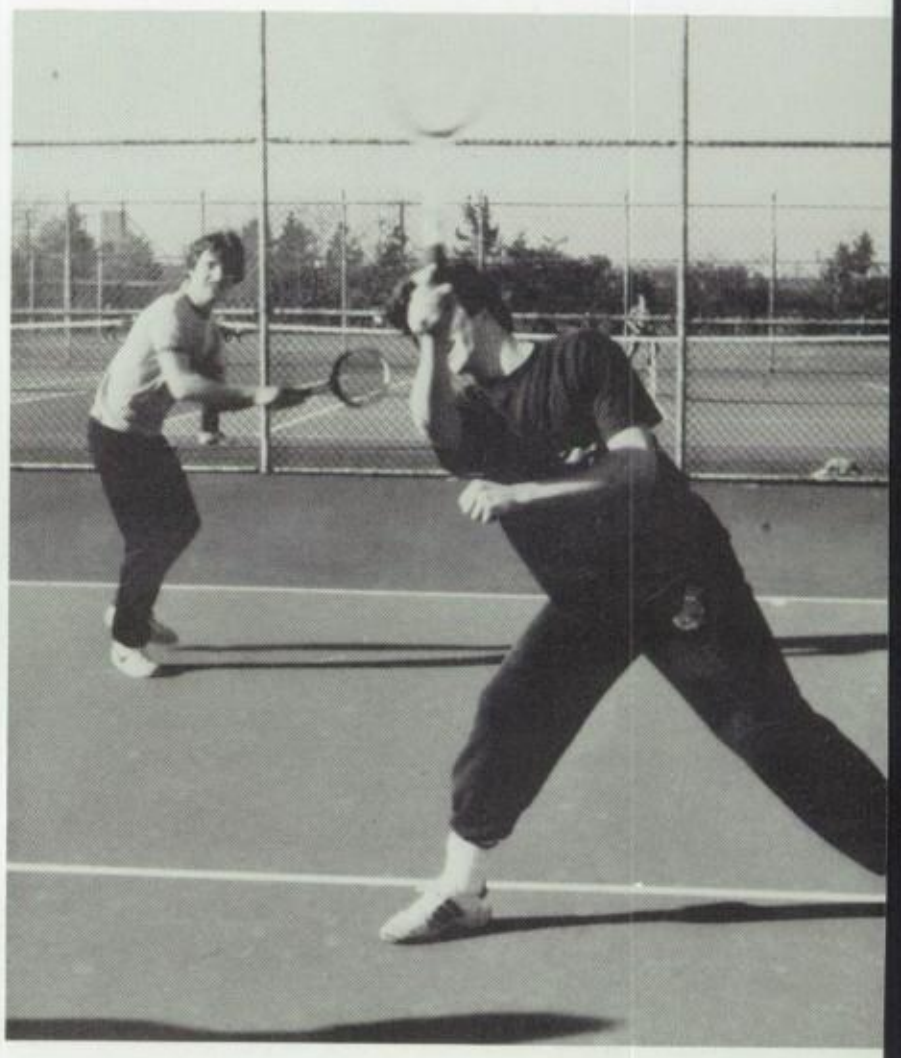
J.V. BASEBALL

First row: J. Matheu, M. Clark, A. Moreno, K. Nystrom, C. Soutar, K. Melkonian, A. Panarella. Second row: G. Buckman, J. Gewert, J. Maggio, D. Thayer, J. Hayes, R. Palladino, J. Clausen, Coach R. Gagliardi.

The Varsity Baseball Team, despite a mediocre record last season and a tough schedule this year, has expectations of being the team to beat in their division. Mr. Smith and Mr. Hiss will lend their experience and knowledge as they pilot the talented squad. The team will be led by returning players Mike Finegan, Paul Soutar, Brian Emmert, Russ Cavallo, Jim Halliwell, John Crafa and John Nicols. The team will be helped by some strong players from last year's predominantly junior J.V. team such as Larry Keating, Dave Aromiskis, and Mike Pappas.

BOYS' TENNIS

First row: P. Hecken, S. Zannos, T. Burchill, S. Testa. Second row: B. Lake, C. Krieg, M. Schnieder, R. Ashe, M. Cowie, J. Connolly, C. Testa, Coach E. Decker.



The Varsity Tennis team should have one of the finest teams in Garden City history. Eighth out of the top twelve players from last year's 7th ranked team are returning. The team will be led by all-county player Jim Connolly who should have a fine season. Other key performers include Greg Konner, Bill Lake and Mike Cowie all of whom received all-conference recognition last year. If the team is to overcome an arduous schedule, Coach Decker will have to find some successful doubles combinations. Seniors Chris Testa, Chuck Krieg and Steve Zannos and freshman Steve Testa should prove valuable in doubles play. Unfortunately, the future for Garden City High School tennis does not look too bright as most of this year's team is graduating.

BADMINTON

The Badminton team coached by Michael Kitaeff is expecting a winning season with the dominating force of returning third year Varsity players. The 1981 All-Conference players were Cathy Nowack, Tricia Hoffman, Mary Celentano and Lia Kwee. Last year's season closed with third place in the division. This year's seniors are Jamie Beck, Maureen Falvey, Linda Haeffner, Tricia Hoffman, Lia Kwee, Beth Noonan, Cathy Nowack, and Jane Rayfield.

First row: M. E. Smalley, T. Tsai, L. Kwee. Second row: M. Santangelo, B. Dausch, M. Falvey, B. Noonan, T. Hoffman, J. Brown. Third row: Mr. Kitaff (coach), K. Rice, C. Nowack, M. Celentano, J. Rayfield, A. Gitelman, J. S. Beck, L. Haeffner.

GOLF

First row: T. Mundy, J. Dies, M. Chrobet. Second row: J. DeMaio, A. Holmes, P. Koslo, A. Moscato, Mr. W. Slocombe (coach).

This year's golf team, coached by Mr. Willis Slocombe, hopes to improve on its third place finishing of last year. This optimism is not unfounded as the nucleus of last year's team is returning. The team will be led by underclassmen, including Juniors Art Holmes and Jack Dies and Sophomore Tim Mundy. Other contributors include Pat Koslo, Chuck McAllister, and Art Moscato. The team must overcome the tough courses at the Cherry Valley Country Club and the Garden City Country Club if they are to challenge for a league title.

"We had dinner at a hot dog stand with our backs to the ocean. The Boardwalk lights against the deepening blue sky gained an ideal, starry beauty and shooting galleries and beer gardens gleamed with a quiet purity in the clear twilight."

Cleopatra's beauty would have been diminished without Antony to bring it to the surface. The Beatles would have been just another group without John Lennon. Costello without Abbott is unthinkable. And what would the Peanuts be without Snoopy? Similarly, what would MAST be without those mothers and fathers who pledge their hard earned money to afford their seniors the luxury of a fine yearbook? Unparalleled appreciation is also in order for all those magnificent industries, as well as those smaller, downtown establishments (who are represented in the following pages) that have helped make the 1982 MAST the best ever.

We are each born with an infinite potential. We all have the ability to create, change, and become what we want. We have the capacity, the obligation to learn, to form our own ideas, to communicate our views to others, and to listen to theirs.

Late in the winter of our senior year nine students from neighboring towns were killed in a tragic accident. Those who knew the dead cried for the loss of a friend, the sudden gap in their lives, and the destruction of a beautiful individual. Those who didn't know them mourned the loss of nine young lives, stolen before reaching their fruition.

Yet, tragedies like that occur every day. Every day a mind, a life, sinks further into the doldrums of drug and alcohol abuse, apathy and ignorance. Each day someone is lost because of parents' not caring, teachers' not caring, friends' not caring, and especially the individual's not caring. Each time this happens we all lose a part of our own life. The beauty of another person, another friend, the stimulation of a new idea is forever gone.

There is little difference between someone killed at a train crossing, and someone who becomes anything less than his full potential.

We must look at the horrible loss of a sudden, early death and resolve to become all that we can and to live life to its fullest. We must extend our own abilities and constantly expand, and we have to engage others and make them grow. We have to be part of society, part of community, yet we must retain our individuality. We have to form our own thoughts and ideas, yet must accept those of others.

We have to look at others' mistakes and deaths and resolve to live life to its fullest, never to stop striving, to love one another, and to love ourselves. If we don't we might just as well cease to exist.

Words do not come easily to any of us when we attempt to think about events such as the tragic van-train collision at the Herricks Road grade-crossing. In fact, psychiatrists tell us that for self-protection, it is not unusual to find that we become numb and inarticulate when disasters occur, and that it takes time before we can say what we feel and mean.

The other problem is that talk about such incidents can be full of cliches. I do not want to use cliches with you. I want to say something very simple and direct.

What comes to mind is that we human beings self-destruct so casually and in such unprepared ways, and we do not think about this possibility very constructively. In fact, we adults — parents and teachers — because we care about you and want you to learn, urge you to think about the large issues of the day. We say to you, understand the complicated facets of our economy. Learn why there is trouble in urban America and in Nicaragua, and contemplate the issues revolving around nuclear energy and a possible nuclear war. Obviously, these are important things to learn.

Yet, because we do care about you, we also have the responsibility to remind you that it is in the daily aspects of living that crucial decisions about your life are made. We must say to you that you have the power to control your own mind and body, and that you have the ability to recognize which decisions you make will prolong life, and which decisions will be destructive to you and others.

We must say to you that if you believe that you can exert more control over your everyday life, then you must learn to think, thoughtfully and carefully, about how to exercise this control. How do you say no to a friend who suggests a self-destructive, not a life-enhancing activity? How do you encourage such questions to be discussed among us? How do you carry into practice the responsibility you have toward one another to protect, to nourish and to sustain? How do you build on your friend's strengths and how do you minimize your friend's weaknesses?

These questions are moral and ethical, and as we look around us and see what can happen to us — how quickly and how inconsiderately life can end, I suggest that we must talk to each other about such moral and ethical issues.

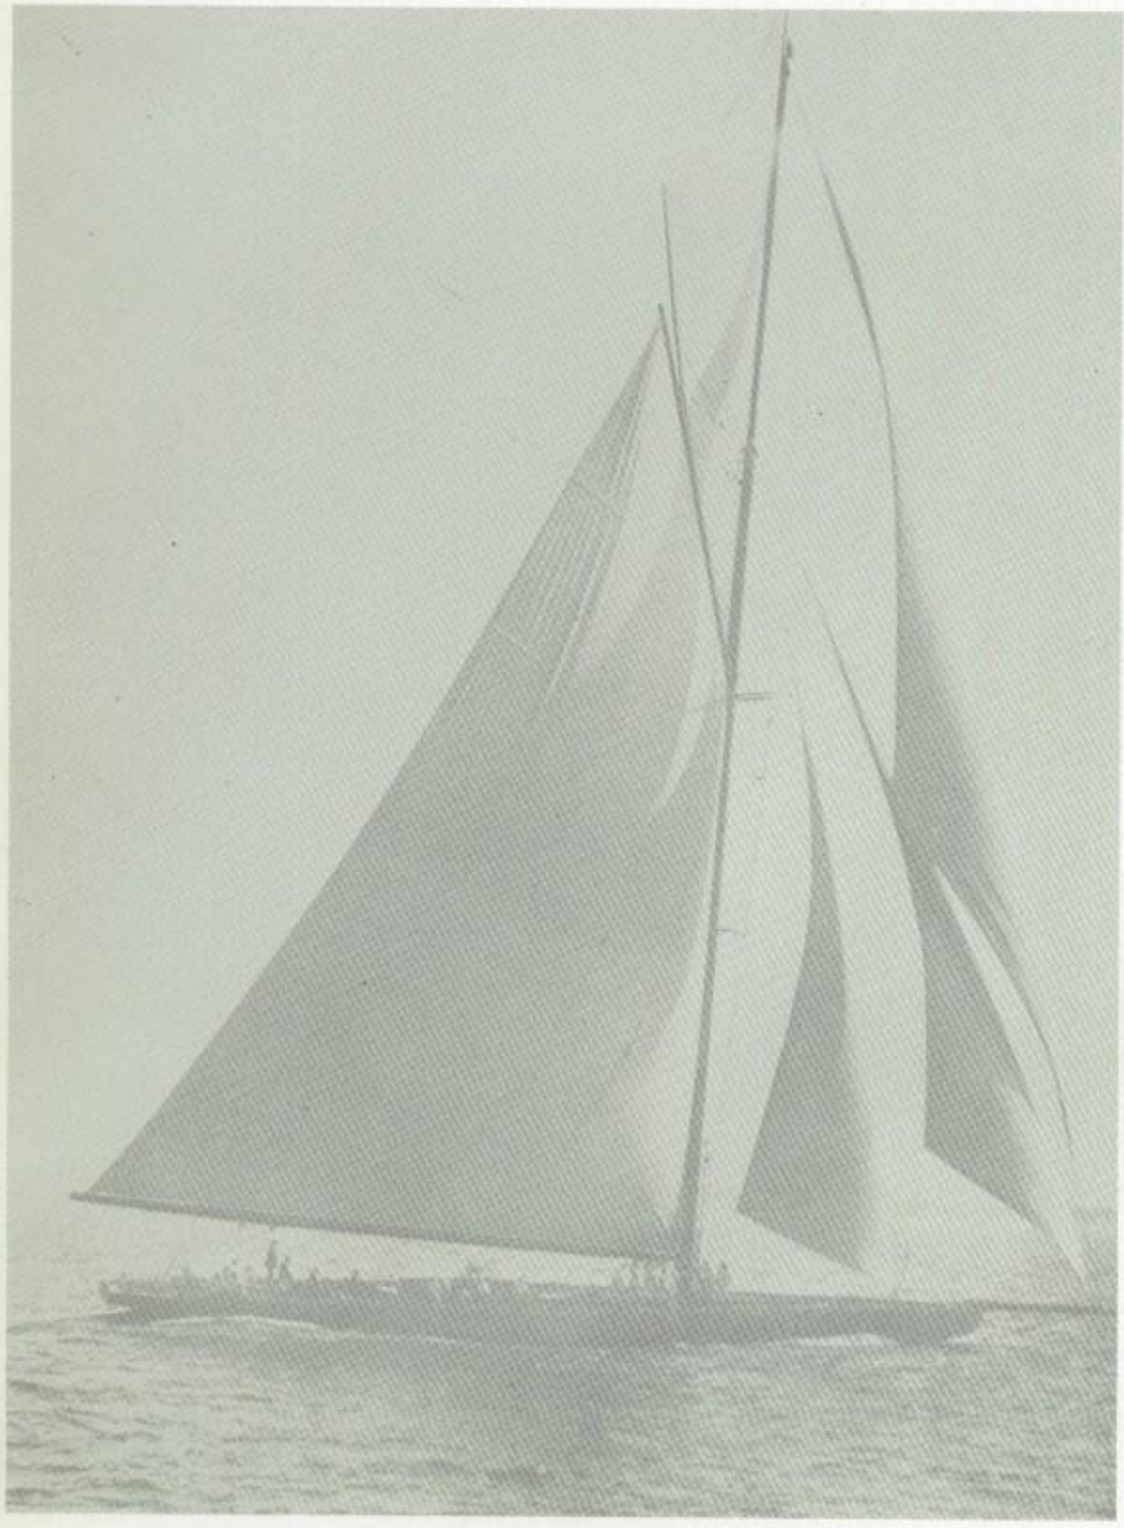
HOW MAST ACQUIRED ITS NAME



The Shamrock IV during a trial race off Sandy Hook, New Jersey; June 21, 1920.

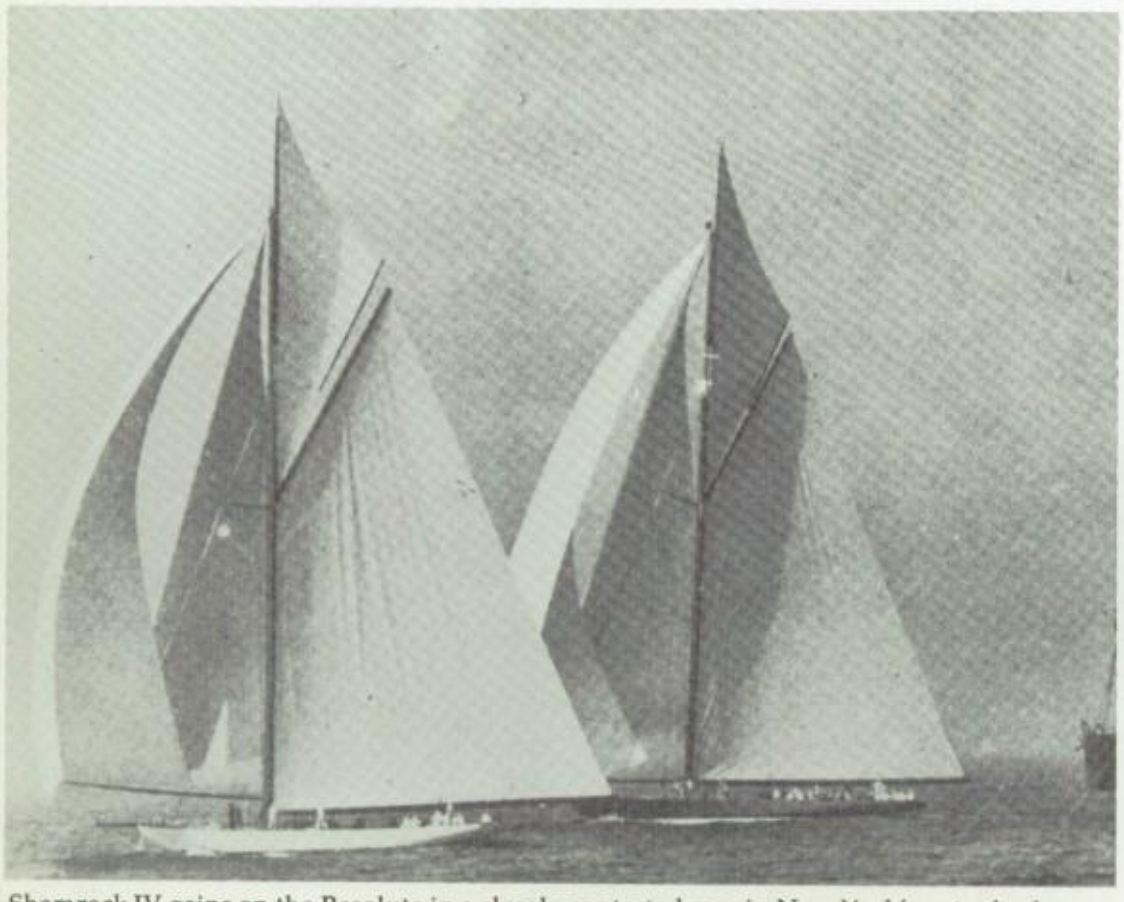
Every year, the graduating class of Garden City Senior High School looks forward with great anticipation to that time in June when they receive that one haven of memories that will last a lifetime: the yearbook, Mast. Yet, many people do not know of how our book acquired its name.

In the late nineteenth century, Sir Thomas Lipton, a wealthy British yachtsman, began construction on a series of yachts intended to relinquish the famed America's Cup from the grasp of the New York Yacht Club. It is the fourth ship in this series, the Shamrock IV, from which our story begins.

In 1914, Lipton challenged the ownership of the America's Cup. The Resolute was the defender. World War I intervened, however, and the match was postponed until 1920. At first, Lipton was quite successful, winning the first race because Resolute had snapped her mast. The second race was won in a very close finish. Nevertheless, Resolute bounced back to win the final three races in this best of five match and to retain the United States ownership of the America's Cup. It must be noted that in the third race, the Shamrock IV sailed across the finish line ahead of Resolute, yet lost the race due to the complex handicap system.

Some years later, as the Shamrock IV was being dismantled, its mast (approximately 100 feet high) was given to our high school, then located at what is now the Jr. High. The High School acquired the mast of the Shamrock IV due to the efforts of two of its residents: George Loring Hubbell and Sir Thomas's attorney, Willard U. Taylor. Sir Thomas had stayed at the Garden City Hotel and thus knew the village. He played golf often at the Garden City Golf Club in its early days. Sir Thomas granted a request by Mr. Hubbell for the mast and it was donated for use by the village.

Thus, in 1935, the first graduating class named their yearbook MAST, in honor of Sir Thomas's gift. The tradition has remained until today. In the early 1950's, a hurricane blew down the mast. It was restored, but damage to an even greater extent later occurred, and finally it was discarded. As the class of 1982 graduates, let us not forget our school and village history.



Shamrock IV gains on the Resolute in a closely contested race in New York's outer harbor.

A history of service.

In 1923, when we opened our first office, business was booming at the Garden City Hotel. And only 250,000 people lived on Long Island.

Our approach was simple: we thought the Island would grow. And we thought we could help.

Today, almost 3 million people live here. And we have offices all over Long Island to serve them. We help with loans, checking accounts, savings accounts and trust services.

Stop in at one of our convenient locations today. You'll see that our history of service is just the beginning.
